ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

More Stories of Lee's Great Strength.

Beauregard's Army Brought Up as a Reinforcement.

The Rebel Army Over 100,000 Strong.

Reappearance of the Rebels at Fredericksburgh.

The Town of Madison Court-House Burned.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE N. Y. TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, May 1.

A dispatch was received to-day by the Government, from Fortress Monroe, stating that the rear of Beauregard's army passed through Petersburgh yesterday morning.

His force is estimated at from 18,000 to 20,000 men. Nothing of special note has transpired at the front to-day. Pickets of both armies extend up and down the Rappahannock and Rapidan.

A considerable rebel force is reported to be at Fredericksburgh, at work throwing up more earthworks on the heights.

The rebels are also reported to be withdrawing from the vicinity of Madison Court-house, and concentrating in front of our left and centre.

One division of Longstreet's corps, according to deserters, is at Hanover Junction, in reserve.

On the same authority Lee's strength is stated to be upward of 100,000 men.

ANOTHER DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, May 1.

The information received from the Army of the Potomac, to-night, states that the troops which went to Madison Court House on Thursday, burned the town to ashes. It is not known whether this was done by orders or not.

Gen. Burnside visited Gen. Meade last night, and spent some hours in his quarters.

Deserters who came in yesterday report that Lee's army is 80,000 strong, with 22,000 effective cavalry, all in good condition, with ten days supplies distributed to them. The railroad trains were running night and day bringing up reinforcements.

The Situation of the Union and Rebel Armies in Virginia.

From the Boston Journal.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, April 28, 1864.

It is well known to the rebels that the old Army of the Potomac is concentrated near Culpepper; that Smith has a force at Yorktown; that Burnside is moving somewhere—but if Lee can understand Grant's intention, he is sharper sighted than any one in Washington. Burnside's movement to Alexandria has upset all the calculations of the wise men, who would have it that he was going to North Carolina, or up the James, or up the Peninsula. Everybody thought last week that Urbanna, on the Rappahannock, was the place appointed for his landing. The advance of the fleet to that port gave color to the idea. The rebels thought that that was the route of Burnside's advance. The Richmond papers published the fact and said his aim was Hanover Court-House. But all speculations, rebel or Union, as to where he is to go, or what he is to do, amount to nothing. The latest speculation is quite as reasonable as any: that he is to be the reserve. The Ninth Corps has had a hard time. It has just arrived from Knoxville, while the corps on the Rapidan have had no hardship since the advance to Mine Run six months ago. If any one corps is entitled to rest it is the Ninth, but when the order to advance is given, there will be little rest for any portion of the army.

Without doubt the rebel army is as large as it ever has been. The remorseless conscription has filled the ranks, but the new soldiers are boys and gray haired men. Lee has more men under him than he led into Pennsylvania, but his line is long—reaching from Petersburgh to Fredericksburgh, and from Fredericksburgh to the brow of the Blue Ridge—one hundred and twenty-five miles. The main portion of his army is on the Rapidan. Elzey, commanding Pickett's old division, which was badly cut to pieces in the last attack at Gettysburgh, is at Hanover Junction to resist Smith, if he advances up the peninsula. The twenty thousand men which are menacing Newbern can be rallied at Petersburgh to resist an advance up the James and to hold the railroad to Weldon—the only connecting line to the South over which Lee receives his ordnance stores, furnished by blockade runners at Wilmington. It will show an unusual military strength and genius if he can hold a line so long—vulnerable as it is on both flanks as well as in the centre. Gen. Grant, I believe, has the power to turn either flank or pierce the centre.

Sigel, with a considerable force at his disposal, is at Beverly, in West Virginia, three days' march from Harrisonburgh or Staunton, with no formidable force of rebels to oppose his march to that place. He would menace Lee's left flank, compel that General to change or extend his present line, and thus weaken him. Or, if not this, with Burnside in reserve, as a movable column, his centre can be pierced by a sudden stroke across the Rappahannock, near the bloody field of Chancellorsville. Or Smith, with his troops on transports, can choose in a night to strike up the Rappahannock, or up the York, or up the James, landing on the north or south side. It is not probable that Gen. Lee will attempt to hold all these points, but that he will fall back as Grant advances, and concentrate his troops on the James, in the vicinity of Richmond, where he will have his supplies at hand; whereas Grant by such a manœuvre will be obliged to change his base. But if this should happen, a second siege of Richmond will not be like the first. Then Lee had the East Virginia Railroad and all the fertile Shenandoah, and all the rich upland counties north of the James for foraging ground; but if he falls back to Richmond, his foraging country will be confined to the country south of the James. Can he support his cavalry and artillery deprived of that territory? Doubtful.

There are some indications that Lee intends to made a desperate resistance in his present position, hoping to repulse Grant in any flank movement. I think that Grant would like to have him decide upon adopting that policy. Some of the heavy guns which have been in position in the rebel works in front of Culpepper have disappeared—troops have been seen moving eastward; but on the other hand new camps are to be seen from day to day. We shall know before many days what is intended on both sides.

The Massachusetts Legislature.

BOSTON, Sunday, May 1.

In the Massachusetts Senate yesterday the Committee on Federal Relations reported a series of resolves in relation to National Affairs, favoring the prosecution of the war and pledging the resources of the State in its support; recommending an amendment to the Constitution abolishing Slavery, and declaring that the President had discharged the duties of his office with fidelity, sagacity and courage, and that his Administration deserves the confidence of the people.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF.

Arrival of the Yazoo, the Columbia and the Merrimac—A Battle Reported to be Imminent on the Red River—The Rumored Capture of Shreveport by Gen. Steele Repeated.

The Yazoo, from New-Orleans, April 21, the Columbia, from the same port, April 23, via Havana, and the Merrimac, from New-Orleans direct, April 24, arrived at this port yesterday afternoon.

The reports previously received via Cairo, of skirmishing at Grand Ecore, and the probable imminence of a battle, are repeated by these arrivals, as are the rumors regarding the occupation of Shreveport by Gen. Steele, who is said to be intrenching himself at that place.

Seven hundred contrabands had been brought to New-Orleans from the Red River.

There was there and a half feet of water on Red River Falls, and six and a half feet from Alexandria down.

A call appears in the New-Orleans papers for a meeting to take measures for calling a State Convention to send delegates to the National Union Convention.

The steamer John J. Roe, at New-Orleans from St Louis, reported having taken wood on the 19th, at the mouth of St. Francis River, with which the furnaces were filled, when a number of the sticks exploded, without doing any damage except to burn the firemen slightly.

On the 22d, when at Fort Adams, a man was seen in a perilous condition on a log in the river. The second mate, with a boat's crew, went to his assistance, when guerrillas opened a battery on the steamer, firing ten shots. Though not damaged, she had to run away. The boat's crew, when last seen, were making for the opposite shore from the fort, and it is supposed that they escaped.

Gen. Stone and others of the Staff of Gen. Banks had arrived at Alexandria en route to New-Orleans.

From Fortress Monroe.

FORTRESS MONROE, Friday, April 29.

The French vessels which went to City Point recently to bring away tobacco from Richmond, have all returned, light, to Hampton Roads.

The steamer New-York, with sick rebel prisoners, has sailed for City Point in charge of Major Mulford.

The Pay of the Pennsylvania Militia.

HARRISBURGH, Sunday, May 1.

The Governor, yesterday, communicated to the Legislature the fact that Congress, as yet, had made no provision for the payment of money advanced by the banks for the pay of troops called out for the emergency of 1863. The message was a very full one, and gave copies of letters of the President and Secretary of War, in which the Governor was assured that the money would be refunded upon the meeting of Congress, and upon the faith of which he made the loan and became responsible for its payment.

A bill was at once introduced into the House, directing the Governor to reimburse the lenders to the amount of $700,000 from the State Treasury, which was passed, and concurred in by the Senate immediately, and, having received the signature of the Governor, is now a law.

From California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Saturday, April 30.

Arrived, the steamer John S. Stevens, from Mazattan, with $136,513 in treasure; 40 bales of Mexican cotton, and 649 packages of silver.

The markets are unsettled, owing to uncertainties as to charges in the tariff and excise laws. Best mining stocks have depreciated 5 per cent., owing to the proposition to tax mines. Great feeling is manifested on the subject. Nothing has been heard from the interior yet.

The receipts at the Custom House for the month of April, amount to $1,214,868.

The steamer Constitution, from Panama, is just coming into the harbor.

Extensive Fire in New-Haven.

NEW-HAVEN, CONN., Sunday May 1.

Goodrich, and Bunce & Co., the Silver-plating Shop of D. G. Galbrath, the Davenport Mission Chapel, two private residences, and a brick barn were destroyed. One man, whose name could not be ascertained, perished in the flames. A horse was burned. The total loss by the fire was from $80,000 to $90,000, the insurance on which is about $33,000.

The Quota of Missouri Full.

ST. LOUIS, Saturday, April 30.

Congressman Hall telegraphs from Washington that the credits of enrolled militia, reënlisted veterans and colored troops reduce the quota of Missouri to 530. The negroes enlisted since the 1st of April more than cover this, freeing Missouri from the draft.

She will be twenty feet longer than the new boat Hoboken, with additional breadth of beam, and such other improvements as are requisite to make her a fleet and commodious craft. This boat is to be completed next Fall.

THE WAR IN ARKANSAS.

Victorious Advance of Gens. Steele and Thayer.

Desperate Race Between the Union and Rebel Forces.

Gen. Steele Ahead and Camden Occupied.

The Rebel Price Completely Out-Generaled.

Strong Defensive Character of the Position.

ST. LOUIS, Saturday, April 30.

Advices from Camden, Arkansas, say that Gen. Steele's army is there.

Gen. Thayer joined Gen. Steele at Elkin's Ferry, on the Little Missouri River, where the rebels were driven from a line of breastworks commanding the river bottom.

The enemy next stood at Prairie de Anna, which was fortified with a line of rifle-pits and epaulements for guns en barbette a mile and a half long. Gen. Steele flanked their position and Gen. Price skedaddled, after a brisk fight, towards Washington.

Other skirmishes occurred during the march, but our total loss was less than 200.

Price supposed Gen. Steele was going to Shreveport, via Washington, and moved his command from Camden to Washington, after the fight at Prairie de Anna.

Gen. Steele pursued the rebels toward Washington, and then suddenly turned and pushed for Camden. Price discovered his mistake, and started for Camden also. A desperate race ensued, and, although heavy skirmishing occurred all the way, Marmaduke being in front, and Dockery in the rear, with cavalry and artillery, Steele came out victor, and entered the enemy's fortifications unopposed.

Camden is strongly fortified with nine forts. All its approaches are well guarded, and it can be held against a largely superior force.

A large rebel transport was captured thirty miles below Camden.

It is understood that reinforcements and supplies are going overland from Little Rock to Gen. Steele, he not being able to draw either from Gen. Banks.

Gen. Steele's force is fully 20,000 strong, and can whip Kirby Smith should he attack him. No fears need be entertained of his safety.

GEN. SEYMOUR'S DEFENCE.

Gen. Seymour, in a letter to a friend, seeks to relieve himself of the disgrace incurred by our arms at Olustee, by saying he only obeyed orders in going there.

THE NEW-YORK CUSTOM HOUSE INVESTIGATION.

Facts in possession of the Congressional Committee appointed to investigate the affairs of the New-York Custom House show that an enormous and still active trade with the rebels is extensively carried on between that City and rebeldom. The committee received notice a short time since from Montreal that a rebel agent was in New-York purchasing material and machinery for an iron-clad ram. Notwithstanding oft repeated expressions of disgust for Northern mechanics and greasy Yankees made by our Southern brethren, it is well ascertained that a large number of machinests have lately yielded to persuasions of Southern agents in New-England, and consented to sell their services to the rebellion. Yet, no arrests have been made. The Committee complain that Government officials in New-York have not enough backbone.

SICK FROM THE ARMY.

Fourteen hundred sick came up from the Army of the Potomac last night. Accommodotions in the hospitals here are now equal to 25,000 beds, and will be increased to 30,000.

MOVEMENTS OF MR. CHASE.

Secretary Chase returned from Philadelphia last evening. The statement telegrapher from here to a Boston paper that there had been some correspondence between Mr. Chase and Mr. Lincoln, during the visit of the former to Philadelphia, on the subject of a proposed resignation in consequence of Frank Blair's appointment, is unfounded.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, May 1.

SECRETARY CHASE'S MOVEMENTS.

Secretary Chase has returned to Washington from his brief visit to Philadelphia.

THE RECONSTRUCTION QUESTION.

It is probable that a vote will be taken in the House on Wednesday on the bill to provide Republican Governments for those of States overthrown or usurped by the rebellion. A number of prepared speeches are yet to be delivered upon that subject.

THE MEXICAN QUESTION.

The joint resolution which unanimously passed the House of Representatives about a month ago, protesting against the French occupation of Mexico and the establishment of Monarchial institutions on this Continent, still sleeps in the Senates Committee on Foreign Relations, which it is permitted to do for reasons of state policy.

THE ARMY APPROPRIATION.

The army appropriation bill appropriates $2,715,000 for medicines, instruments, and dressings.

DESIRES OF LOYAL TENNESSEANS.

Jas. K. Hood, Editor of the Chattanooga Gazette, is in Washington as the representative of the loyal citizens of Lower East Tennessee, to urge upon the Government modifications of the order discontinuing the issue or sale of rations to citizens at points south of Nashville, Tenn. The loyal people protest against the policy of sending them to the rear as a most ungrateful return for their many sacrifices for the Government during the war.

If the people were paid for the provisions which they gladly tendered to our soldiers upon their advent into that portion of the country, they would be able to purchase food at home, or remove to the rear with the dignity of free citizens, instead of being subjected to the humiliation of begging from the Government, when in fact that Government is their debtor. It is intimated that Mr. Hood considers the construction of the proposed railroad from Kentucky to Knoxville as a measure which will only enrich a few individuals, and that its benefits to the people generally will necessarily be deferred until they have secured supplies from other sources; and hence he urges the payment of the loyal people for their individual losses in preference to appropriations for this road.

The Pay of Colored Troops.

The Army Appropriation Bill, which passed the House on Saturday, contained the following provision for the pay of colored troops, which was inserted as an amendment in the Senate, and concurred in by the House.

All persons of color who have been or may be mustered into the military service of the United States shall receive the same uniform, clothing, arms, equipments, camp equipage, rations, medical and hospital attendance, pay and emoluments, other than bounty, as other soldiers in the regular or volunteer forces of the United States, of the like arm of the service, from and after the 1st of January, 1864; and that every person of color who shall hereafter be mustered into the service shall receive the same amount of bounty as the President shall order in the different States or parts of States, not exceeding one hundred dollars.

Any colored person enlisted and mustered into the service as a volunteer under the call of October 7, 1863, for 300,000 men, who was at the time of enlistment enrolled and subject to draft in the State in which he volunteered, shall receive from the United States the same amount of bounty as was paid while soldiers under said call, not exceeding in any case one hundred dollars.

All free persons of color who have been or may be mustered into the military service shall, from the date of their enlistment, receive the same uniform, clothing, arms, equipments, camp equipage, rations, medical and hospital attendance, pay, emoluments and bounty, as others of the regular or volunteer forces of the like arm of service, and all enlistments in the regular army may be for the term of three years.

Another Naval Hero Gone.

DEATH OF COMMODORE W. D. PORTER.

Commodore W. D. Porter, the eldest son of old Commodore David Porter, and the elder brother of Admiral David D. Porter, Red River, died yesterday morning at St. Luke's Hospital, of disease of the heart.

The heart was very much hypertrophied, weighing 24 ounces. The liver had undergone the degeneration, producing the condition known as nutmeg liver, the kidneys also showed commencing organic disease. Two years ago Commodore Porter was severely scalded by an explosion on the Essex, and dated the commencement of his breaking down to that event. While in the discharge of his duty he passed through four attacks of yellow fever, one of which was so severe that his coffin was made in certain anticipation of his death. During the last three months of his life he suffered from great prostraction of strength with occasional attacks of angina pectoris. He grew steadily weaker and died calmly and in full possession of his intellect at 8 A. M., Sunday, May 1.

He entered the hospital three weeks ago, and since that time has had the best possible medical care. Dr. Charles W. Packard, the Resident Physician at the hospital, who attended him through his sickness, says he had the strongest constitution of any man he ever met, and that he passed through several attacks of angina pectoris, any one of which would have killed any ordinary man. Yet, through all, he was very patient, never complaining, no matter how severe the pain he suffered, and seeming only anxious to know how soon he would again be able to take command of the brave men he had so often led to victory. A few moments before his death, while suffering from one of these attacks, and the one in which he died, he said, "Doctor, do you think you can get me off?" "I hope so, Commodore," answered the Doctor, at the same time taking his hand, and while holding it he died, so calmly and so easily, that even the Doctor did not know the precise moment of his death.

Commodore Porter was a Louisianian by birth. He entered the navy in 1823 as a boy on board the United States ship Franklin, under command of Commodore Sewart, and received an excellent naval education under Commodores Hull, Chauncey, Patterson and Rodgers. He projected and was the founder of the present light-house system; was through the whole Mexican war, where he did noble service; in 1855 was placed on a retired list by a Secret Navy Board; four years after he was restored to his rank as Commander by President Buchanan; was then appointed to the command of the United States ship St. Marys, and did important service on the Pacific coast. On the outbreak of the rebellion he was ordered home from the Pacific; and though he had property in Virginia, and many of his family were in the rebel cause, still he proved faithful to the Government, and laying aside all personal considerations, tendered his aid in putting down the rebellion, and was assigned to a boat which was built chiefly under his superintendence. He christened it after his father's ship, the Essex. At the battle of Fort Henry, he ran up withing 150 yards of the fort, and fought with courage and effect until scalded by the steam issuing from the boiler, the thick plates of which had been penetrated by a ball. He said he went into the fight with high colors, and, though disabled, the Stars and Stripes still waved as he floated back. He also commanded the Essex at the attack on Fort Donelson, and fought his way in the same boat past all the batteries from Cairo to New-Orleans. He destroyed the ram Arkansas last in 1862, above Baton Rouge. After this event he was promoted from Captain to Commodore—being the third instance in our naval history in which promotion from Commander to Commodore has taken place. After this he did little more active work in our service. He came to our City where he resided some length of time. He has been sick some two months.

It is probable that the Mayor and Common Council will take official action in regard to the death of Commodore Porter, and that a public funeral will be ordered. The body, we believe, will be taken to Philadelphia for interment, where the remains of the gallant father of the deceased are buried.

Probable Homicide in Thirteenth-street.

A NOTORIOUS CHARACTER SHOT IN THE LEFT BREAST.

Between 6 and 7 o'clock last evening a serious shooting affray occurred near the corner of Avenue A and East Thirteenth-street, during which a notorious character, named John Burns alias "Piper Burns," was shot in the left breast with a pistol in the hands of Wm. Broderick. Both of these persons are to the police well-known characters, and to some extent they are men of influence in that portion of the City, on the east side, known as "Mackerelville." It seems that "Piper Burns" and Broderick had a falling out on account of the latter frequenting the liquor store of Owen Tally, No. 191 Avenue A. Some two years ago Burns stabbed Tally, and for this offence he is still under bail. Burns and Broderick met yesterday afternoon near the saloon above named. Burns was bantering Broderick, and did all he could to get him into a fight. Broderick refused to fight, and soon after Burns struck him. They then clinched and for a few moments they fought desperately. Broderick at length warned Burns to keep off or he would shoot him. Burns thereupon immediately drew a pistol. When Broderick saw the movement he drew a pistol from his pocket and fired. The shot took effect in the left breast, inflicting a wound so serious that he is not expected to recover. Broderick at once gave himself up to Officer Farrell, of the Seventeenth Precinct. The wounded man was taken to Bellevue Hospital by Officer Shannon.

Beef.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

As you did such good execution against the butter and stage monopolies, will you not please turn you attention to the meat speculators? They have managed to raise the price of cattle higher than was ever known before, and appear determined to push the prices still higher.

I think the citizens of New-York are not true to themselves if they suffer the monopoly to exist any longer. There are plenty of persons that it does not make any difference to them whether the prices of meat is 10 or 40 cents per pound, but let such consider for a moment how many families are compelled to forgo the use of meat on account of the high prices. Let all your readers for one week discontinue the use of meat, and the speculators will be brought to grief. The curse of the inhabitants of New-York are the middle men, who live on the necessities of the people.

The citizens of New-York have done nobly for the sick and disabled soldiers; now let us one and all abstain from the use of meat for ten days or two weeks, and thereby confer a blessing on the families of our brave soldiers, and the poor in our midst, by enabling them to buy meat at reasonable prices instead of having to pay 25 or 30 cents per pound, as at present.

Bartellot moved an amendment to Mr. Gladstone's budget, that a part of the surplus money be applied to the relief of the malt tax instead of the sugar duty. He disclaimed any party object, but after debate, in which some of the leading Conservatives supported the amendment, it was lost by 248 majority, and the House agreed to Mr. Gladstone's propositions.

The London Morning Herald says that the game was altogether in the hands of the Conservatives. Paris rumors assert that Lord Clarendon will certainly succeed in establishing much more cordial relations between England and France.

Lord Clarendon would remain in Paris until the 18th instant.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says: "The real object of Lord Clarendon's visit is to smooth the way by personal communication with the Emperor for a complete agreement between him and the English Government on points to be discussed in the approaching conference.

The Bourse was weaker on the 15th, and the Rentes closed at 66f. 60c.

FESTIVITIES OVER GARIBALDI.

Gen. Garibaldi had a magnificent reception at the Crystal Palace yesterday. From 2,500 to 3,000 persons were present, including a large number of the aristocracy, and members of both Houses of Parliament, and of the legal, scientific and literary professions. The Italian Committee took the most prominent part in the proceedings of the day. A flag of Italy was presented to Garibaldi, bearing the words "Rome and Venice." The General addressed the representatives of the Italian working men with an animation and eloquence which contrasted remarkably with the few simple phrases of his previous addresses. The Italian concert then followed. The chorus of the Garibaldi Hymn was sung with great fervor. After the concert the sword contributed by the Italians of London was presented. Garibaldi in accepting the sword, said:

"I thank you, Italians, for this beautiful present. I promise you I will never unsheath it in the cause of tyranny, and will draw it only in support of oppressed nationalities. I hope yet to carry it with me to Rome and Venice."

The proceedings were marked by a great display of enthusiasm.

The expense of the French expedition until July of the present year is fixed at 270,000,000 francs. After July Mexico will pay an annual indemnity of 1,000 francs for each French soldier. Mexico is to pay to France 25,000,000 francs annually.

MONDAY, May 2—A. M.

The past week was one of the most eventful in our Foreign Trade and Stock Exchange Speculations of the season. The spirit of Taxation in Congress is scarcely less remarkable. The changes may be hailed as in the right direction. In reference to the addition of one-half to the Tariff Duties on Foreign Goods, it was not expected to give universal satisfaction, either to the Press or to the Importing interest in so commercial a community as our own. But the consumers of Foreign Goods, the people throughout the country, upon whom this additional burden, from what is deemed—especially by the Importers and Importing agents for European manufacturers and West India Sugar planters, who were, on deliberate calculation, hastening their various merchandise into this and other ports by the tens of millions to avoid a new Tariff—an advance of the actual consumption demand, the hasty action of Congres will make no serious complaint. They are, as a body, in favor of taxation for the support of the war; not for class profits. They have at least one great remedy for over importations and high profits in their own hands, and the time has come, now that the fever or saturnalia of speculation is abating, when they will be apt to use it. They can consume less, and thus not only neutralize the extra duties, but reduce the market for very many classes of merchandise with which our storehouses are already overburdened. The additional tax, supposed to reach every household under the New Bill, is equal to one cent the pound on Sugar and two and a half cents on Coffee. Yet there is scarcely a housekeeper in the land who has not felt in the last year, and quietly endured, the repeated advance (by Importers or middle-men or Grocers through an unnatural spirit of speculation) in both these articles of prime necessity, equal to three or five cents in a single week, and often without the pretext of the rise in Gold, the price of which was 172 about the 1st March last year, and 150 on the 1st May. This year 160 in March; 179 on 1st May. In the meantime, West India Sugars have gone up from 10@11 to 18@19 cents, and Rio Coffee from 30@31 to 45@46 cents. Very many Foreign articles in like proportion. The fresh, and we fear unhealthy, spirit of Railway building or Railway extension and double-tracking, have rapidly advanced Foreign rails, duty paid, nearly 100 ⅌ cent. They are now required to pay an extra duty of $6 75 ⅌ ton, which, if it will only check the disposition referred to—engendered by the most absurd figures recently current for Railway shares, now productive as well as dividend paying, on the Stock Exchange—will work a most salutary good.

This action of Congress is charged with injustice because unprecedented. But the occasion is unprecedented. The exigencies of the War demanded a New Tariff. It was known to be impending. Foreigners and Foreign Agents were preparing for it and by forstalling the action of Congress, designed to profit by their enormous entries under the Old Tariff. No pledge was ever given by the Government that Goods afloat or in bond would be exempted. In times of peace and in the early years of this War, Congress made this their practice; they could not well afford to do so now. But on this point one of our oldest Merchants writes conclusively as follows:

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

It is astonishing to an old merchant and an occasional importer, as I am, engaged in commerce sometimes in England, sometimes here, to find any intelligent man objecting to the mode in which the tariff has been increased, and to its operation being immediate on the passage of the law without previous notice or any delay in respect of the time of shipment from a foreign port.

Be it known, therefore, that the established practice of England and France, which I name as types of leading commercial countries, has long been to collect new duties as soon as the passage of the law is known, without any exceptions founded upon the time of shipment from abroad or the time of arrival and warehousing in bond.

One good reason for this, (and there are many others,) is that the importer can protect himself by the warehousing system from paying the higher duties until he chooses. And it must be supposed, as a general rule, that a higher duty is covered in a few weeks by a higher price to the consumer.

Moreover, it has been common in England to add a per centage on duties instead of a detailed revision of the tariff; and then, when the increased revenue was no longer wanted it was easy to reduce it by taking off the per centage or a portion of it. Every accomplished merchant expected the change which has occurred here. M.

The original entries of Foreign Goods during the week were again very large, and the withdrawals from bond of the previous entries very active. The Customs paid in were nearly five millions. The exports of both ordinary Produce and Bullion were on a fair scale. The receipts of Cotton 5,480 bales.

The change in the temper of speculation on the Stock Exchange, to which we have referred, has reduced the business nearly one-half. The crowd of speculators in William-street is less than half, as compared with a fortnight ago. At the close of the week the Public Board was brought to a division of interests, and a new organization formed in Broad-street on a plan not unlike the regular Stock Exchange Board. The Evening Exchange in Fifth-avenue was almost deserted. The new Mining Schemes scarcely referred to. The productive value of Railway Shares once more discussed in a rational way. It was full time that this reaction should take place. Had it occurred some months or even weeks sooner, immense losses and numerous embarrassments might have been guarded against, and there would have been less danger of extreme or prolonged depression. The active demand for Gold to pay into the Custom-house, averaging since Monday nearly a million a day, kept up the price until the close of the week. As the New Tariff Act is now the law, this demand will return to a moderate daily average. The Customs at this port in April reach about fourteen millions. They were also quite large at other ports the last week of the month.

The price of Gold, on the actual sales, was about the same, Saturday, as on Friday. As no early official notice was received at the Custom-house of the Joint Resolution of Congress, raising the Duties one-half, the entries continued under the old rates, and a further large amount of Gold was paid, both on original entries and on the withdrawal of Goods from Bond. The receipts of the day for Customs are $573,000, making for the week $4,629,000; the largest business in a single week on record at the port of New-York. The Exports of Gold were $664,625, making for the whole week $1,271,836. The market for Money is easy to the Stock Brokers; partly, because of their greatly diminished wants and their indisposition, for the moment, to enter upon new engagements for their customers.

The Stock Market of the day was generally dull at the Morning Board, at the conclusion of which a motion was made and carried to suspend the Saturday afternoon sessions until further notice. The disposition at the Board would thus seem to be to begin their half holidays on Saturday for the Summer season unusually early. The business on the Street practically closed about as early as in the Board, and no later reliable quotations could be had than the sales at the 1 o'clock Public Board:

CIRCULAR.

TO THE BONDHOLDERS AND STOCKHOLDERS OF THE PITTSBURGH, FORT WAYNE AND CHICAGO RAILWAY COMPANY:

The undersigned, Commissioners to carry into effect the recent financial arrangement between the bondholders and stockholders, deem it proper to communicate to you this statement:

1. The applications of earnings of the railroad to improvements of the property, in the nature of construction, have been, according to the books—

During the receivership under the order entered Jan. 17, 1860	$1,007,650 06
During the six months from November 1861 to May 1, 1862	236,694 60
From May 1, 1862, when the present Company went into possession, to Dec. 31, 1862	970,147 56
(Of which $536,673 were for Depot and Bridge bonds.)
During 1863	1,517,162 25
Total	$3,731,654 47

Which investment is now bearing good interest, in the shape of enlarged earnings, and virtually increases the intrinsic value of the stock full $3,500,000.

2. This expenditure has been made without increasing the debt or stock of the company, as reorganized. Net earnings over interest supplied a million last year, and large sums before: and the residue has been provided for by remission of interest, made in conformity to the agreement for reorganization, and by surpluses in the hands of the Bondholders' Committee, resulting from provident adjustments

3. Before the late financial arrangement, the company had provided for $1,912,000 to be expended for improvements during the present year, most of which was to have been furnished by net earnings, and the residue from the other resources mentioned. It was not contemplated, in the execution of this work, to increase the capital stock, or to incur any additional bonded debt, or any floating debt. No doubt was entertained that the net earnings, after paying interest, would have been sufficient for these purposes. Neither the officers of the company nor the committee of the bondholders, felt any hesitation in acting upon this conviction.

4. The purchase and construction of new equipment has formed an important share of these expenditures. Among them was a provision for 95 new locomotives. The cars have been proportionately increased. Contracts for iron have also been advantageously made. The track has been greatly improved. It needs still further expenditure. The equipment received is still inadequate to the business which offers. The savings on this work, as compared with the present range of prices, will be nearly two millions of dollars.

5. It was in this condition of things that the desire of the Board to proceed more rapidly with the improvements contemplated, and the demand of the stockholders for the application of the net earnings to dividends, led to a conference between these interests and the bondholders which has resulted in some modifications of the financial plan fixed in 1859 by the agreement of reorganization.

These modifications are substantially the following:

To the bondholders is accorded—

1. An extinguishment of the right of the company, after July 1, 1867, to require them to accept six per cent. bonds, or to receive payment of the principal; a change which leaves all the bonded debt of the company irredemable until July 1, 1912.

2. The establishment of sinking funds for the first and second mortgages having priority over dividends, and the application of their incomes to the purchase of the bonds at their market value.

3. Incidentally, an increase of their security by a large additional expenditure of new capital upon the property.

4. An enlargement of the voting power of the first and second mortgage bondholders from one vote on every $200 to one vote on every $100 of par value.

5. The payment of interest on the third mortgage bonds semi-annually instead of annually.

To the stockholders, upon these conditions, is accorded:

1. The power to provide for all new construction by issues of new capital stock.

2. A release of the provisions of the trust deeds which require all net earnings over 6 ⅌ cent. on the original $6,500,000 of capital to be applied as sinking funds to purchase in the bonds; or, in some cases, to new improvements.

The practical results of these measures is, to leave the net earnings in each year, after paying interest and sinking funds, at the disposal of the company, for dividends upon the stock; and the policy may now be deemed to be settled, by the unanimous action of the stockholders and bondholders, to apply such surplus of net earnings to dividends, as far as prudence and sound discretion will warrant.

6. The annual charge for interest and sinking funds will be as follows:

8 per cent. on $5,250,000 of 7 per cent. first mortgage bonds	$420,000
8 per cent. on $5,160,000 of 7 per cent. second mortgage bonds	412,800
7 per cent. on $2,000,000 of third mortgage or income bonds	140,000
On bridge bonds and Chicago depot bonds	39,850
Total interest sinking fund	$1,003,.50

7. The net earnings for 1863, as stated in the President's Annual Report, were $2,106,623 18, which would have been sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds, and the installments of the two new sinking funds, and to leave a surplus of $1,102,873 18, which, if the new financial arrangement had then existed, would have been applicable to dividends on $6,500,000 of stock—being over 16.96 per cent.

This was, in the main, without the benefit of the $1,517,162 of the new capital expended on the road and equipment during that year, and with an equipment very inadequate to the business which offered.

The President's estimate of net earnings for the present year, made also in the Annual Report, is $2,500,000; and, in a special report, he stated that the net earnings for March, after deducting the proportion for interest and the new sinking funds, were over 2⅜ per cent. on the present amount of the stock.

Thus far, the receipts for April are quite equal to those of March.

8. In judging of the value and productiveness of your property, it is to be noted:

That it is a direct and continuous line, without branches or dependencies, between great industrial and commercial centres, 468 miles long, every part having a through business and an abundant local traffic, rapidly increasing; with easy grades and slight curves, more than two-thirds of the distance being straight line, traversing a grain-growing region of unsurpassed fertility, as yet but partially developed.

That the investment of capital in bonds and stock is less than that of any other leading line of equal, or even similar, productive capacity, by more than one third.

That the present affluence of earnings is mainly due to these permanent causes.

If the business capacity of the line be properly sustained and developed, there is no reason to doubt, in the judgment of the undersigned, that it will maintain its dividends in every condition of circumstances which will allow of dividends in similar enterprises.

It must be borne in mind, also, that as none of the bonds are payable for forty-eight years, and none of them are CONVERTIBLE into stock, the whole increase of net earnings arising from a natural and permanent growth of business inures to the stock, which forms at present but one-third of the invested capital. The less permanent effect of an inflated currency will operate, during its continuance, in the same manner.

The undersigned, in the exercise of the discretion intrusted to them by the bondholders and stockholders, will not now press the sale of any new issue of stock under the new arrangement; they see no cause for a premature issue. That measure can be deferred until an easier condition of the money market; and the gradual and general distribution among permanent investors of the present stock will enable us more nearly to obtain its real value.

Dated NEW-YORK, April 27, 1864.

JAMES F. D. LANIER,
J. EDGAR THOMSON,
SPRINGER HARBAUGH,
SAMUEL J. TILDEN,
LOUIS H. MEYER,
Commissioners.

NOTE.

The following is a copy of the special report made by the President, hereinbefore referred to:

NEW-YORK, April 8, 1864.

GENTLEMEN: The unanimous action of the stock and bondholders has liberated the net income of the railway, after paying interest and sinking fund, so as to place it at the disposal of the Board of Directors for the purposes of dividends, surplus funds and other objects consistent with the interests of the corporation.

The first and second mortgage bonds, being 5-6 (five sixths) of the whole funded debt, were so arranged in six series as to make the amount due for interest each year payable in monthly instalments of 1-12 (one-twelfth) each month. Two years having confirmed the theory upon which the plan was adopted, it might now be well to assimilate to it the plan of paying dividends on the capital stock by paying quarter-annual dividends, instead of annual or semi-annual dividends, as is generally customary with other corporations.

I herewith submit an approximate statement of the earnings, expenses, and disbursements for the months of January, February, and March past, which is sufficiently near correct to justify the Board acting upon it with a view of making a dividend, if it is thought best to declare one at this time:

Earnings for January		$290,675 81
Earnings for February		455,211 02
Earnings for March		602,603 28
Total for three months		$1,348,490 11
Deduct operating expenses:
For January	$210,296 21
For February	263,328 22
For March	330,000 00	803,624 43
Balance		$544,865 68

Less interest and sinking fund as follows:

Three months on 1st mortgage	$91,875 00
Three months on 2d mortgage	90,300 00
Three months on 3d mortgage	35,000 00
Three months on Chicago depot bonds	1,137 50
Three months on interest and sinking fund on Alleghany bridge bonds	6,000 00
Sinking fund of 1 ⅌ cent on first and second mortgages for three months	26,025 00	$250,937 50
Leaving a balance of		$293,928 18

Which is applicable to dividends, and subject to the order of the Board. The above balance of unexpended and unappropriated income is equal to a dividend of 4.52 ⅌ cent. on the outstanding capital stock.

The small earnings for January were caused, as you are aware, by an almost total suspension of the business of the railway for about one-fourth of the whole month, arising out of a combination of the locomotive runners to interfere with the police and management of the railway.

It would not be prudent at this time to divide all the surplus earnings, as unforeseen contingencies may affect future earnings, and, to enable the company to make full dividends in adverse times, a surplus fund ought to be accumulated.

Respectfully submitted.
(Signed) G. W. CASS,
President.

To the Board of Directors of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company.

Upon the reading of the above report, it was unanimously resolved to declare a dividend of 2½ ⅌ cent. for the quarter year from January 1 to March 31, 1864, payable at the office or agency of the company on the 15th day of May next.

NEW SKIRT FOR 1864.
A NEW AND GREAT INVENTION IN HOOP SKIRTS.
THE DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (OR DOUBLE) STEEL SPRING.
J. I. & J. O. WEST, NO. 97 CHAMBERS-ST., NEW-YORK.
Are the owners of the patent and exclusive manufacturers of this,
J. W. BRADLEY'S
PATENTED DUPLEX ELLIPTIC STEEL SPRING SKIRTS.
This invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most elastic, flexible and durable spring ever used, enabling the wearer, in consequence of its great elasticity and flexibleness, to place and fold the skirt when in use as easily and with the same convenience as a silk or muslin dress. It entirely obviates and silences the only objections to hoop skirts, viz.: the annoyance to the wearer as well as the public, especially in crowded assemblies, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, or in any crowded place from the difficulty of contracting them to occupying a small space. This entirely removes the difficulty, while giving the skirt the usual full and symmetrical form, and is the lightest and most stylish and graceful appearance for the street, opera, promenade or house dress. A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterward willingly dispense with the use of them. They are the best quality in every part, and by far the lightest, most durable, comfortable and economical skirt made. Merchants will be supplied as above, and ladies in most first-class retail stores in this City and throughout the different States.

The "1st Quality" are pointed with the very best Iridosmin Points, carefully selected, and none of this quality are sold with the slightest imperfection which skill and the closest scrutiny can detect.

The "2d Quality" are superior to any Pens made by him previous to the year 1860.

The "3d Quality" he intends shall equal in respect to Durability, Elasticity and Good Writing Qualities (the only true considerations) any Gold Pens made elsewhere.

In regard to the Cheap Gold Pens, he begs leave to say that, previous to operating his New and Patented Machines, he could not have made as Good Writing and Durable Pens for the price, had the Gold been furnished gratuitously.

Parties ordering must in all instances specify the "Name" or the "Number" and "Quality" of the Pens wanted, and be particular to describe the kind they prefer—whether stiff or limber, coarse or fine.

All remittances sent by mail in registered letters are at my risk; and to all who send twenty cents (charge of registering,) in addition to the price of goods ordered, will guarantee their safe delivery.

Parties sending Gold or Silver will be allowed the full premium on the day received.

TO CLUBS.—A discount of 10 per cent. will be allowed on sums of $12, of 15 per cent. on $24, and of 20 per cent. on $40, if sent to one address at one time.

Address, A. MORTON.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Dispatches from the Army of the Potomac furnish the usual stories relative to the fabulous strength which Lee is massing in front of Gen. Grant. His infantry is reported by deserters to number eighty thousand, and his cavalry twenty-two thousand, all mounted, of course, on well-fed steeds, with ten days' rations issued every week for an advance which don't take place. The town of Madison Court-house has been burned by our troops.

Late advices from Camden, Ark., say that Gen. Steele's army is there, and had, previous to its arrival, effected a junction with Gen. Thayer. Gen. Steele had completely out-generaled "old Pap Price," who commands the rebel army in Arkansas, and after flanking him out of one position after another, finally started on a race with him for Camden, a place very strongly fortified on the Washita River, and came out victor, entering the works unopposed by the enemy. The fortifications were found to consist of nine forts, very strongly built, and capable of resisting a largely superior force.

The Nashville Times of April 28 gives the particulars of the late rebel dash upon our lines, in front of Gen. Hooker's position, in Lookout Valley, on the 23d of April. The infantry came over Taylor's Ridge, and the cavalry came from the south, down the valley. They attacked simultaneously seven points picketed by the Ninety-second Illinois. Our men attempted to fall back, but the rebel infantry barred every way. They then tried to cut their way out. Out of 64 men, 34, fighting bravely, escaped. Not a man came back to camp but on orders. However, five of our men were killed, four mortally wounded, three severely wounded, and nineteen missing. Lieut. Scovelle was wounded and taken prisoner. The rebel loss is as severe as ours, if not greater. Several of our men were killed by the enemy after surrendering. Some of our wounded were butchered as they lay on the field. The rebels in the whole affair were guilty of shocking barbarity.

The steamers Yazoo, Columbia and Merrimac, bringing advices from New-Orleans to April 24, arrived at this port Saturday. That part of the military news which is apparently the most important, seems to be only the echo of that already received via Cairo. It is to the effect that the rebels exhibited a disposition to attack Gen. Banks in his strongly fortified position on the Red River, and that the skirmishing which was in progress might at any time grow into a battle. The rumor regarding the occupation of Shreveport by Gen. Steele, has one addition—that he was throwing up fortifications. If he is actually at that place or in its immediate vicinity, it is difficult to understand why the rebels do not attempt to dispose of him before troubling themselves regarding the forces under Gen. Banks, which are not likely to be able to resume the offensive for some days, according to the latest accounts. A call for a meeting to appoint delegates to a Union State Convention which shall send delegates to the National Convention, appears in the New-Orleans papers. The Constitutional Convention was trying to reach the more important business which it had assembled to perform.

Lieuts. Ready and Wilson, of the First Middle Tennessee (rebel) Cavalry, were captured twelve miles from Columbia, Tenn., on the 26th of April. They had a pass from Gen. Wheeler, authorizing them to do a little scouting on their own hook—which they did.

FROM EUROPE.

The Europa arrived at Halifax yesterday morning after a stormy passage. She brings European dates as late as the 17th ult. via Queenstown. The pirate Florida had found refuge in a Spanish port, her application for a supply of coal at a Portuguese port having been refused. The paternity of the famous Laird iron-clads is said to have been acknowledged by the Pasha of Egypt, who, a correspondent of the London Times asserts, states that he ordered their construction. The source whence this story comes, and the fact that his Egyptian Highness has been so tardy in acknowledging his connection with these notorious craft, may lead some to doubt the authenticity of this little romance. Garibaldi continued to be "all the rage" in London. He had a magnificent reception at the Crystal Palace on the 15th ult., when several flags were presented to him. The Emperor Maximilian and the Empress left Miramar on April 14, and were expected to reach Rome on the 19th, whence they would depart the succeeding day for Mexico. The conference upon the Danish question was to hold its first session in London on April 20, and the German Diet was to be represented. Meanwhile, the Prussians are steadily pushing the siege of Duppel. Breadstuffs and provisions were dull and declining. Consols closed 91⅜@91½ for money.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, Saturday, Mr. Wilson introduced a resolution, which was referred to the Military Committee, that any officer whose resignation of a commission was accepted, shall not be entitled to hold or exercise command until again appointed by the President, with consent of the Senate. Mr. Sumner introduced a bill providing for a Board of Examination to ascertain the merits and capacity of all applicants for civil service under the Government, except those appointed by the President. The House bill for relief of settlers on land claims in California was called up and discussed. The bill granting lands for a railroad in Minnesota, as amended by the House, was passed. The amendment of the Finance Committee to the Tax Bill taxing banks was passed.

In the House a resolution was adopted for the appointment of a committee of nine, to investigate the charges made by Mr. Blair against Secretary Chase, and all allegations affecting the integrity of the Treasury Department. Messrs. Garfield, Wilson, Brooks, Davis, Stuart, Fenton, Dawson, Jenckes and Steele were announced as the Committee. The Senate amendment to the Army Appropriation Bill making the pay and emolument of colored soldiers equal to those of white, to take effect from January 1, 1864, was adopted. Ayes, 81; nays, 49.

GENERAL NEWS.

It seems to be pretty well settled that the letters produced in the House of Representatives some days since by Gen. Garfield, purporting to have been written by J. S. Davis and D. R. Eckles, of Indiana, were actually forgeries. The Indianapolis Sentinel states that they were written at the desk in the office of a hotel in that city, and that they were fabricated for the spy Rankin in the hopes that they might protect him in case he fell into rebel hands. The last time Rankin's friends heard from him was three days before the battle of Chicamauga, when he was at Bragg's headquarters, and they now suppose him to be dead.

A letter from Kanawha Court House states that the rebels are committing serious depredations in that vicinity. The writer says: "On Tuesday night they took seventy horses from the bank of the Ohio River opposite Gallipolis. On Wednesday they captured some twenty or thirty mules, within twelve or fourteen miles of this town, where a pretty large military force is encamped. And on Thursday they got four horses belonging to Judge Summers, and took the contents of two stores from Red House Shoals."

There was a dull Stock Market on Saturday, and the Board of Brokers omitted their afternoon session. Money easy, on a dull demand from the Stock Exchange. The Customs demand for Gold continued active, the price closing 179@179¼.

Breadstuffs were lightly dealt in on Saturday; prices favored buyers. Provisions were generally in fair demand. Pork was quoted higher. A good inquiry prevailed for Hay, Hides, Leather, Petroleum, Fruit, Wool, Metals, Cotton, Tallow and Spanish Tobacco. Whisky was in more request, and firmer. Freights were quiet, with 561 vessels of all classes in port.

The Military Field.

The opinion is universal, both in the North and in the South, that this month of May will be a month of great battles. It was almost impossible, this year, to commence operations earlier. It was impossible for the army in Tennessee to advance, for the simple reason that until within the last few weeks, there was no accumulation of supplies at Chattanooga; and without a very large accumulation, a forward movement was not only impracticable, but if it had been successfully made, we could not have held the new positions we might have won. By this time, we have a considerable stock of supplies at Chattanooga. Our army there, too, has greatly increased in magnitude by the return of the veteran regiments, who went back much enlarged after their furlough. Its objective point is generally believed to be Atlanta, a position second only to Richmond in importance, and, in a strategic point of view, in its bearings upon the whole Southern Confederacy, of still higher value than the rebel capital. Its commanding importance was argued very frequently by military men last Fall and Winter; and though we have heard but little of it lately, its importance has not diminished a whit. Some of the Richmond rebels have lately given expression to the opinion that the Summer campaign will really begin in the West, from Chattanooga, and though this is a subject about which we know nothing, we must confess that the reasons the rebels give for their opinion are not bad. Beside the drawback we have mentioned to an advance on this line, another great impediment has just been removed. We refer to the column in East Tennessee under Longstreet, which is now withdrawn to Virginia. As long as Longstreet held Bull's Gap with a large force, the advance of our main army under Sherman was perilous. The rebels might have fallen upon Knoxville, might have got upon Sherman's communications or in his rear, or might have struck into Kentucky, and by one or other of these movements compelled a retrograde movement on the part of Sherman before he had consummated his campaign. That danger is now out of the way for the time being; and if our forces seize and properly fortify Bull's Gap, we can secure East Tennessee and guard Kentucky with a small body of troops.

The rebels are boasting of the magnitude of Johnston's army, and the fine condition into which he has brought it since last November, when it was routed by Grant. We have no doubt it is a large army; we do not believe it will be easily beaten, and we do not believe it will retreat to or beyond Atlanta without a desperate fight. Between Atlanta and its present position near Dalton it holds a line of immense strength—a line of immense difficulty for us to operate over. There is not only the fortified mountainous position at Tunnel Hill to be broken through, but there are two rivers, the Coosa and Etowah, to be crossed, at both of which the rebels have works, and can make a stiff fight. Notwithstanding the obstacles and difficulties, we should not be surprised if the rebels were right in auguring an early advance of our great army in the West.

An advance of the Army of the Potomac much earlier this year, was also next to impossible. We could not advance in the wintry months, and early in March, the Army was placed under a new commander, inexperienced in operations in Virginia, and who required a few weeks at least, to prepare his plans, to get his army in hand, and to increase it to the size essential for a forward movement upon the greatly reinforced army of Lee. It is but seven weeks since Grant was elevated to the grade of Lieutenant-General, with the command of all the military forces of the Union; and it is less even than that short time since he arrived in Virginia. Of his ceaseless movement, of his immense activity, of his concentration of troops, the public have from time to time got some little idea. How far his plans may be matured, how nearly ready he may be for movement, no one knows; and the public have been wisely kept ignorant. The Cincinnati Commercial says that the President has lately assured Gen. Grant, not only that he is absolute master of all the forces in the field, but that he (the President) does not even desire to know what are his plans in any field of operations. We have no doubt of the truth of this statement, and, under such circumstances, we think that popular curiosity can very well afford to restrain itself.

But still signs are seen in the field and in the newspapers that Grant's preliminary labors are rapidly reaching their consummation. It is altogether unlikely that this month of May will pass away, without battles in the East and in the West that will severely test, and we hope to Heaven, will crush the head and backbone of this great rebellion.

Fighting—How to Do It, and How Not to Do It.

If there is to be another battle in Louisiana, we hope the Government has by this time forwarded instructions to Gen. Banks to try the plan of fighting the enemy with his whole army at once, and of trying to be the stronger at the point of attack. A great many of our Generals have, so far, as we remarked the other day, regarded this idea with great disfavor, influenced, we believe, by the example of the Greeks at Marathon and Thermopylæ, who are reported to have fought and conquered with vastly inferior forces. As civilians, we of course offer an opinion on a point of this kind with a good deal of diffidence, but the plan of attacking the enemy with superior numbers, or of letting him severely alone until he can be attacked in this way, has in modern times been tried on several occasions with much success; and from this it would seem that there really must be something in it. Then, it is now satisfactorily proved that the Confederates are "evil beasts," and positively will not let themselves be thrashed by half their numbers—the United States Constitution to the contrary notwithstanding. They began the display of their stiffneckedness on the Peninsula, where they resolutely and wickedly refused to be conquered by detachments detailed from Little Mac's army for that purpose. Their malevolence toward Gen. Banks seems equally strong. The manner in which they precipitated their whole force on each of his divisions as it came up, following their refusal to lay down their arms to Gen. A. L. Lee's cavalry, was a stupendous example of malignity. A man named Bonaparte, who cut some figure in the wars following the French Revolution, was in the habit of so arranging matters that he might fling his whole army on one point of the enemy's line, and he on several occasions did them a good deal of damage in this way, and achieved some reputation among his contemporaries. We, therefore, respectfully suggest that Gen. Banks be requested to try this device at Grand Ecore, if it be not too late. We think it extremely doubtful whether the Confederates can be conquered by "raids" much before the year 1900, and we fear by that time people at the North would begin to show symptoms of dissatisfaction with the slow progress of the war. Gen. Grant is evidently resolved on trying our plan, and, if Lee beats him, he will have the satisfaction of destroying an immense army at one fell blow.

The Fort Pillow Butchery—How to Deal With the Butchers.

We hear every day accounts from Tennessee, of Grierson having captured parties of Forrest's men. If they are true, and there is no reason to doubt them, he must have in his hands by this time nearly two hundred, if not more. It will not, or certainly ought not to be difficult for an active and vigilant officer such as he is to pick up three hundred and sixty of them, considering that they are all given to drink, and that as they are mostly occupied in plundering, they must scatter and straggle a good deal. Now, if this is the case, does it not furnish a ready solution of our difficulty about retaliation for the Fort Pillow affair? It would certainly be very hard for us either to counsel or to witness the execution in cold blood of this number of Confederate prisoners who have had no share in this bloody deed. The butchery of a large number of men for a crime of which, though technically answerable for it, they are not really guilty, is something which no Christian man at the North likes to face, if it can possibly be avoided. We have not got down to the Confederate level yet, and have no love of bloodshed for its own sake. But we doubt very much if there is anybody amongst us, or in any part of the civilized world, who would not hear with intense satisfaction that three hundred and sixty of Forrest's butchers had been strung up as fast as they were caught. They are the very men who have done the deed, and the only men who, if simple justice was always attainable, ought to be made to suffer for it. We are satisfied, therefore, that if Col. Grierson will hang on the nearest tree every prisoner who falls into his hands, who shall be proved to have belonged to Forrest's gang, he will relieve the Government from great embarrassment, set a valuable and striking example, and give satisfaction to the Northern public.

A Good Move.—We understand that a movement is on foot among the ladies of this City to diminish somewhat the drain of gold from the country, by agreeing among themselves not to use any of the expensive fabrics imported from abroad, which enter so largely just now into the consumption of the country. They propose to confine themselves, so far as possible, to the use of home fabrics, while the war lasts. Such a movement among the ladies, if it becomes at all general, will do good in many ways. It will relieve their husbands from paying a good many very heavy bills. It will thus keep gold, not only within the country, but within their private purses. And it will tend to build up and encourage the manufacture here at home, of a great many articles which are now imported. Few persons probably are aware of the extent to which the manufacture of a great many things supposed to come exclusively from abroad, is already carried on here at home. This can and will be very much enlarged by such action as the ladies propose to take. We are told that already a great many of the silk fabrics sold here as of foreign importation, are actually made in Connecticut, and so far as quality is concerned, nobody could tell the difference.

Up to the present time the movement referred to has been only a matter of conversation; but we presume some public demonstration will take place in regard to it before long.

Disease in New-York—The Punishment of Sanitary Neglect.

It has come to be recognized as a natural law of society that the sins and evils of one class are visited upon other classes. If the rich be extravagant or corrupt in morals, the poor are injured by their influence. If the poor live in unhealthy physical conditions, their diseases pass over to those who have every comfort.

We do not desire to create any unnecessary alarm at this time, but we fear there is strong reason to believe that one dreadful scourge of the vices and neglect of the poor—we mean Typhoid Fever—is now beginning to afflict classes who are exposed to none of its causes or its provocations any further than in being residents of the same city. It will be remembered that for many years the experienced physicians and other friends of sanitary improvement have been warning the public that New-York, though with the healthiest situation in the world, could not always escape the consequences of her insane neglect of common sanitary provisions. It was shown to us that streets in the condition of ours, must, as by a physical necessity, breed disease. It was proved that in our poorer quarters double the number of children die in proportion to the population, compared with London. We heard continually of the densely crowded tenement-houses—a single building holding the population of a small village; of the double rows of houses, where the only escape for air, the court, is filled with another crowded building, the whole mass of human beings emptying their refuse in a common pile, which remains festering and rotting for months beneath their windows. The "cellar-population," numbering by the tens of thousands, were described to us, and we even heard, from competent witnesses, of two or three families living together in a single underground room, with scarce any air or light.

We were warned that all this was a hot-house of pestilence, and that when once some terrible disease had been engendered in these sinks of corruption, it would by no means confine itself to tenement quarters or to families enjoying only a certain income. We all know that physical laws are not barred off by divisions of classes, and that the typhus of the Sixth Ward or the cholera of the First Ward would not hesitate to knock at the doors of the handsome squares and the rich avenues of the upper Wards. We understood very well that even if we refused all responsibility for the homes and health of the poor, we could not avoid the effects of their diseases.

And yet, with all these warnings and representations, nothing effective was ever done. The City is in as filthy condition in the poor Wards, as ever before. Let any one, if he doubts, take a walk through Trinity-lane, Rector-street, Greenwich and other streets, in the First Ward, or through portions of the Fourth and Sixth Wards, or near the East River in Tenth, Eleventh and other streets, or in East Thirty-second and Thirty-third streets and others, between First and Second avenues. The tenement houses are just as much packed as ever; ventilation is as entirely neglected; double rows of houses still crowd various quarters, and the cellar-population is undiminished.

Can we wonder that at length typhoid has come forth with its ghastly train from all these reeking dens, and in some districts, scarcely a floor is without its sick? In many a foul hole, women and children half clad, are discovered by the Dispensary physicians lying on the floors tossing with this disease. Bellevue alone has over a hundred cases, and since August last, seventy-five per cent. of the young physicians in attendance have died of it. And this is but natural. Typhoid is as much the harvest of the seed sown in bad air, crowded rooms, rotting garbage, unswept streets and want of light and nourishment, as the corn of the next Autumn will be of the yellow seed now dropped in the furrows. But there are indications that the poor are not to suffer alone. The disease is creeping into other classes. Sickness assumes, we hear, a typhoidal character, and many cases of the fever among the cleanly and comfortable already appear.

So plain is the connection between the evil and its remedy, that all words of advice or suggestions of improvement seem almost superfluous. And yet we almost despair of the slightest change or reform. We are governed in sanitary matters for the benefit of the pockets of a few politicians, not for the benefit of the rich or the poor. All our sanitary bills before the Legislature have uniformly failed against the personal and pecuniary influence brought to bear from this City. Our only hope is in the efficient working of an intelligent association, which has been formed to cure just such evils—the "Citizens' Association," which will embody all the popular desires of reform, and be able to form them into practical plans.

We need, as everybody knows, merely a simple organized plan and some honest man to execute it, for receiving and daily carrying off the necessary garbage of a great city. Anybody with the slightest power for organization, ought to be able to do it thoroughly. Then we want a thorough system of inspection of the tenement houses, under an act which, like the London Act, forbids more than a certain number of lodgers on a given number of square feet, and requires proper means of ventilation and draining in each lodging-house, the inspectors having power to act summarily in case these laws are neglected. All second rows of houses should be forbidden in future, and the cellars cleared of their tenants. Many minor abuses in these tenement houses could be readily corrected by other provisions.

With a city cleaned and inspected as Paris is, and under some such legislation as that sketched above, New-York would be the healthiest city in the world.

We trust that the Citizens' Association will frame the wisest and most practical Health Bill which is possible, for the next session, and then, by all honorable means, "lobby" it through. In the meantime, individuals should use all possible preventive means to check the spread of these diseases, which spring from filth and over-crowding of population.

An Opening for Enterprise.—In the period of suspense which must precede the commencement of the great underground railroad, there is abundant scope for a supplementary enterprise, which, if it should even be but of temporary necessity, would prove amply remunerative for the time. We refer to the establishment of a line of airy, tidy and fast-going river boats to ply—say on the North River, from the foot of Canal-street to Manhattanville, stopping at two or more intervening landings—and on the East River, from Peck-slip to Harlem Bridge, making similar way-calls, especially at Eighty-sixth-street. There is an apology for this accommodation already in existence, in the form of an East River line, which makes sundry trips a day (at most uncertain intervals) to and from Harlem, via Astoria, neglecting the great suburb of Yorkville, with some 6,000 or 8,000 people, altogether, or, rather, leaving the stray passenger who may wish to go there by the river at the mercy of the still more uncertain and uninviting ferry arrangements between Astoria and Eighty-sixth-street. The service we suggest—if properly conducted—say with good, substantial boats, running up both sides of the island every half-hour, would prove a most effectual relief from overcrowding in the cars in summer. The arrangement, moreover, would beget a trade, first in the attraction it would afford to pleasure-seekers, and next, the stimulus it would supply to suburban housekeeping; bringing the two ends of the island, as it were, together, by annihilating full half the distance which now separates them.

The time occupied in the trip each way, including stoppages, need not exceed half an hour, or a little over one-third of the time required by the overloaded through cars. There would be no legislative provision required which would prevent the enterprise from going into early operation; and those who look to high and rapidly advancing house-rents would do well to give the subject immediate and practical consideration.

Movements of Population.—There have been some novel and curious movements of population in this country during the last three years, or since the war began. There has been a large emigration of Southern Union people into the States of the North. There has been a large—partially free, partially forced—rebel emigration to the Confederacy from those parts of the Southern States brought within our lines. There has been a very large civic emigration from the Northern States to the recaptured cities of the South, as New-Orleans, Vicksburgh, Memphis, Nashville, and so forth. There has been a very considerable emigration of dejected rebels from the Western Border Slave States to the gold-bearing Territories of the Rocky Mountains. There has been a large emigration from the United States to Canada, consisting of deserters from our army, timid people, nervous people and bilious people, accompanied by not a few wretched rebels; and there has been a counter current, larger than usual, of Canadians to this country. These currents of internal migration are, in their character, unlike anything that has ever taken place here before.

If Lieut.-Gen. Grant destroys the army of Lee, and crushes the rebellion in a reasonable time, there will within the next few years be far larger movements of population in this country than any yet seen. In particular, there will be an immense emigration from the Northern States Southward.

Labor in the Interior.—Some of the Ohio papers state that the calling out of the militia in that and other Western States, just at the present time, is likely to cause a good deal of embarrassment in the agricultural districts. It is just now the season for putting in the Spring crops, and any great lack of labor will make itself seriously and disastrously felt in the diminished returns of next Fall. It is a matter of very great importance to the country that the harvest of this year should be as large as possible. Whatever labor can be procured in any part of the Western States will be used to advantage.

AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. Maretzek has come to the conclusion that a Spring season of Italian opera is impossible. The public seemed to be ready for it, and the subscribers presented themselves in encouraging numbers. It was owing to these facts, perhaps, that a few German chorus-singers supposed that the right time had arrived for a new exaction, and therefore "struck." They were followed, we believe, by some members of the orchestra, and so Mr. Maretzek found himself in a dilemma. Either he had to acknowledge a new principle in management, namely, paying for rehearsals as well as performances, or to postpone the season. The latter was the judicious course, and Mr. Maretzek adopted it. Hence we shall have no more opera until October next. By that time the impresario will have arranged the matter—not, perhaps, to the satisfaction of the disaffected, but judiciously, so far as the public is concerned. The time has certainly come for combating the pretensions of the mechanics of the orchestra and chorus. A decent operatic entertainment will otherwise be impossible. At the present moment they hold, or fancy they hold, the manager completely in their power. He has to accede to their monstrous demands, or be left in the lurch. The latter alternative is rather difficult with a man like Mr. Maretzek, but he has acceded to their demands too often and too cheerfully, which has encouraged them to make the present trouble. Musicians are, we admit, scarce, but it is possible to add to their number, and this is the only plan by which the monopoly can be broken down. Who will undertake the task of importing a few dozen fiddlers, and half a hundred decent chorus-singers?

The concert announced by Signor Mazzoleni, for Saturday last, did not take place. Somebody was sick; so the few people who had assembled were dismissed. In the evening, at the same establishment—Irving Hall—Signor Barili gave an entertainment in aid of the Italian Benevolent Society, which was not liberally attended. The performances were extremel creditable to teacher and pupils.

Mr. J. N. Pattison will give a grand concert at Irving Hall on Thursday evening, assisted by Miss Laura Harris, Signor Lotti, Signor Ardavani and other artists.

The most important announcement this week comes from the Winter Garden. Mr. Edwin Booth, who, without any kind of exception, is the best tragic actor now on the stage, will commence an engagement there of eleven nights, to-morrow, (Tuesday,) during which he will repeat some of his greatest impersonations. This engagement will be the last prior to the Fall campaign, and is, therefore, doubly interesting.

Miss Avonia Jones completes her engagement at the Winter Garden to-night, playing Medea, in the tragic play of that name—her best part,—and Janet, in the "Sorceress"—her worst. During a rather unpropitious time, Miss Jones has contrived to win a large share of public attention, and to establish her claims as one of the best artists now on the stage. Should she return when no Sanitary Fair is in progress, she will, we are sure, carry off something more substantial than the hearty recognition of her merits.

Mr. Frank Drew will take his first benefit at the Olympic to-night. The programme is selected for the express purpose of displaying the gentleman's comic powers. "Handy Andy" and "Mazeppa" will be played.

Miss Jane Coombs has played three times during the past week at Wallack's. Her Lady Teazle was good, although marked by too much feminine pointedness. As Lady Gay Spanker, she was especially excellent in the descriptive scene extolling the hunt. These were her two best efforts, and sufficient to justify the highest expectations concerning her future career. We can hardly say as much of the lady's performance in the "Stranger," (Saturday night.) The overwrought intensities of a Provincial school of acting were painfully noticeable in her impersonation of Mrs. Haller. The part is tearful enough in all conscience, it need not be made hysterical. Mr. Lester Wallack, we may here add, plays the Stranger with rare skill. It is at best an artificial and priggish creation, but its stilted cynicism is not absolutely intolerable in this gentleman's interpretation of it. The most natural character is the Countess, and this was exquisitely played by Miss Henriques, whose sweetness and grace are as conspicuous as her rapidly maturing powers. Miss Mary Gannon was also admirable.

That notoriety is almost as good as fame was demonstrated on Saturday, when the Count Joannes gave an imbecile performance of "Hamlet" at the Academy of Music. The entertainment was beneath mediocrity, yet many hundred people were present, and amused themselves by "guying" the Count and his companions.

We live in an age of magic. Professors of the black art descend on our City like soot from a burning chimney. Robert Heller is probably responsible for this. He was the first to see our exposed situation, and to take advantage of it. It was he who set us aglow. Since then we have had the Davenport Brothers, who pretend to have the Old Gentleman in a box, and to-night we are to have Simmons, who says that he can do even more than the potentate himself. The last-named gentleman plays at the Broadway Theatre, (late Wallack's,) which has been newly painted and decorated at great cost. Mr. Heller retains his cozy quarters opposite the Metropolitan Hotel, and the Davenport Brothers exhibit their Familiar at the Cooper Institute. The immortals never come alone.

"Rosedale" will be played to-night at Wallack's.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Williams have resumed their season of Irish drama at Niblo's. It was interrupted, it will be remembered, by the indisposition of Mr. Williams. The gentleman is now in excellent condition, and delights the best audiences that the "Connie Soogan" has ever drawn.

It should be remembered that "Pomp of Cudjo's Cave" will be withdrawn from the boards of Barnum's Museum after the present week. We have so recently spoken of its merits that it is unnecessary to do more than refer to this fact.

Mr. George Leach, a gentleman who has done good service in the cause of church music, will be the recipient of a grand complimentary concert at Irving Hall, on Saturday evening next, the 7th of May. Several artists of distinction have volunteered for the occasion.

FINE ARTS.

Mr. Rossiter's picture of "Eve in the Garden" is the most meritorious specimen of that gentleman's best style that we have seen for many years, and will fully repay a visit to the Crayon Gallery, corner of Ninth-street, where it is exhibited. We have, during the past few seasons had so many crudities from Mr. Rossiter's easel, so many abortive attempts to clutch the historic "diadem at a bound," that it is really refreshing and delightful to find a work in which brick dust is not the prevailing tone, or the dignified history of Egypt and the East the standard of beauty. His "Eve" is a tempting and voluptuous beauty, reclining in a bower of foliage, with that absence of costume which was appropriate and becoming where no eye but that of Dame Nature gazed upon the rounded figure. The flesh tints are warm and beautiful, and the expression of the face is pleasing and pure. There is so much luminousness in the general treatment of the figure that the effect of the recumbent position is somewhat destroyed—it is too forward, and looks as though "Eve" were floating over the bank rather than reclining on it. A fault like this will remedy itself, and as the picture becomes older it will entirely disappear. The landscape is particularly good, and in fact the general details reflect the greatest credit on the artist. We have heard some objections to the picture, on the score of indecency. They are ridiculous. The person who cannot gaze at a nude figure without blushing ought to be excluded from a picture gallery, or content himself with Broadway Eve's in crinoline and false hair.

Derby Galleries.—The annual exhibition of the National Academy of Design is now open at this establishment, opposite the Olympic Theatre.

In the same building will be found the fine and extremely interesting picture of "Washington Irving and His Literary Friends," a group, containing the portraits of the most memorable of our writers. The engravings of the same are in a forward state of preparation, and are said to be extremely fine. The picture is only to remain in its present quarters for two or three weeks more.

LIFE IN IDAHO.

More Hanging by the Vigilance Committee—A "Short Shrift" and a Deaf Ear to Supplications—Mining, Trading and Miscellaneous News.

Correspondence of the Rocky Mountain (Denver City) News.

Virginia City, I. T., Thursday, March 10.

have been waiting some time for something of interest to turn up, that I might give you as an item of news from these gold fields of the Northwest. Since my arrival here, about two weeks ago, nothing of any particular importance has transpired to communicate to you, until day before yesterday, the particulars of which I now send you in full.

On the morning of Tuesday last, the 8th instant, the current report around town was, that the peace and harmony of a certain house of prostitution had been intruded upon, by a lot of scamps who entered the aforesaid crib without any just cause or provocation, and literally demolished and devoured the contents of its interior. The proprietoress, who is known here by the name of "Moll Featherlegs," thinking she could recover damages, began a suit before his Honor Judge Davis, and a jury of twelve was called to hear the testimony and render their verdict accordingly. The case was prosecuted and defended by the best talent the country affords, and toward evening the jury retired, intending to give in the verdict next morning at 9 A. M. The decision of the court (miners) I have not heard, but suppose the Widow Featherlegs will recover some damages.

On the same evening the "chebang" of Annie Skeggs, Lib Cunningham & Co., was broken into by Naylor, Thompson, Harden, Slade and others. The contents of this resort were likewise materially defaced. Mrs. Skeggs says they completely bursted her up in business, and she had nothing left.

J. A. Slade, known in Denver as well as here, has been a terror to this community. He has been keeping a ranch on the Madison branch of the Missouri River, about ten miles from here, but spent two-thirds of his time in town, and while here he was always drunk. He had with him at all times a gang of desperadoes, who feared nothing, and never observed law, order, or the counsel of any one. He frequently slapped law-abiding citizens in the face, and threatened to "bore them through," if his wish, whatever it might be, was not granted.

The citizens and Vigilance Committee sent him word when he was sober that law and order should and would be preserved, and if he did not abide by this rule, which is considered imperative by them, he would soon suffer the consequences. Early this morning Slade and company were drunk—not dead drunk, but crazy drunk—and abused every one, calling them opprobrious names, and daring any one to take it up. Papers were issued for his arrest, and while he was being arrested the warrants for himself and others were torn up, and vengeance threatened against the court. Before other warrants could be drawn, he went to the office of the Judge and called him a —— of a ——, and said some people's days were numbered, and thus abused the most respectable citizen among us. At 3:40 P. M. a company of about 300 men, all armed, marched from some place unknown to myself, up through Jackson-street and halted directly in front of the place in which Slade was.

A guard was put around the town, and also the building that Slade was then in. Business was suspended; crowds gathered, the streets were full; old muskets and rifles glistened, and still no excitement prevailed. Gangs of men could be seen in every direction, but hardly a word was spoken. Nine-tenths of the people knew nothing of this affair or what the men were about to do. The question would be asked in every group of men, "what is the fuss," "who is dead," &c. At 4:30 Slade was arrested and conducted to a ravine at the edge of the street, where, lo and behold, there stood before him and us a newly erected gallows, for this especial occasion. The hills and streets, house-tops and every vacant spot in sight was covered with men, women and children. The crowd conducted him before the scaffold and asked him if he had anything to say before he would suffer death. All was quiet and still as death. Not a word could be heard from any one, except the cravings of the prisoner to see his wife.

About an hour previous to this a message had been dispatched to his ranch for Mrs. Slade, but this was not known to the committee, and, therefore, his request was not granted. He was made to mount the stand, and given ten minutes to say what he pleased. He cried for Judge Davis, lawyer Sanders and others. Judge Davis came forward and was asked in the most entreating language by the prisoner to plead with the people for an innocent man. The prisoner said if they would allow him to leave the country he would immediately do so, and go anywhere directed. Judge Davis told him it was not in his power to do anything to save him. Again and again he would ask time for his beloved wife to arrive. He said he had business matters to explain to her, and asked them for God's sake to grant him time for her arrival. His legs now trembled, his face was pale, and his whole frame was nervous. He was now certain his time had come.

The rope was placed about his neck, and his arms bound, and again he cried, "For God Almighty's sake, let me see my beloved wife!" Cries of "Let him see his wife" from every quarter were heard, and a rush to the gallows was looked for. Excitement now prevailed, and a general fight was anticipated. In an instant about three hundred guns were leveled on the crowd, and in an instant more everything was as still as the hush of midnight. The prisoner was still begging for mercy, but all to no purpose. Hang him they would, and hang him they did, while he was still asking for a few moments longer, and without his being blindfolded, the trap was sprung. The fall was thirty inches, and his boot toes touched the ground. After hanging for thirty-one minutes the rope was cut and the body conveyed to the Virginia Hotel.

The crowd still remained in the street, but not a word was said except by the aforementioned Naylor Thompson, who swore vengeance against the perpetrator of this deed. A dozen or more of the guards went after him, and marched him to the gallows, where they were about to deal it out to him, but, by the interference of some men, he was let loose. He will probably be banished. At 6 o'clock, and before the corpse was laid out, Mrs. Slade arrived. She is a lady who bears an excellent character here, and is thought much of by all her acquaintances. When she rode in front of the Virginia Hotel she alighted, and was conducted to the room in which her dead husband lay, yet ignorant of the fact that he was dead. As soon as she saw the body she cried that God might punish the murderer, in open daylight, of her husband. Her feelings can better be imagined than described, and the sympathy of this community is with her. She asked a friend of Slade's why he did not pull out his pistol and kill him before he was hanged.

Thus endeth the life of one who might have been a useful member of society, and who might have been beloved by this and other communities.

Business is dull. The mines are only paying expenses. The cause is the unsettled state of the weather. A few were sluicing and others were drifting, but the expense of taking out the dust is so great in winter, that but little is realized above expenses. When money is taken out, every one is flush, and business goes merrily on, but when expenses amount to as much as the actual sum taken out, it is the reverse; therefore the cause of the tightness of the times.

Many are already fitting out for the Yellowstone. When this stampede commences a profitable harvest is looked for by the merchants. Every one is sanguine of the richness of the Yellowstone, or Big Horn country, and a big stampede will be the result.

I hear of no new gulch discoveries about this country. Quartz leads are being found on every side, and at times great excitement prevails in regard to their richness, and the values set upon these new discoveries. Enormous prices are asked and no sales made. In this gulch, exorbitant prices are asked for claims, and but few sold. A claim that is open cannot be bought for much less than the actual amount in it. Preparations are being made in every shape for a big thing as soon as the water is fit for sluicing. At present, the trading community, merchants and others, are looking grave and wear long faces. This is caused by the scarcity of dust. There are a few goods that would bring good prices, but goods that are in the market are not as firm as one might expect at this season of the year. Merchants are more anxious to sell than to hold.

There are already notices here of steamers preparing to leave St. Louis with goods for this market. A rush and decline of prices is expected, and many who have goods here are closing out. Flour is selling, to-day, at $32 and $34; meal 42c.; and hams 60c. Bacon—the market closed, to-day, on this most necessary article of grub—as there is no lard in the market—at 70c. Brooms are scarce; a dozen cannot be found at one house; butter is firm at $1 10 by the firkin; dried apples and peaches slow at 50c. by the sack; candles, star, are in demand, and cannot be found at wholesale, and they will probably sell soon, by the box, at $1 25; coffee is not as firm as might be expected. It is scarce in this market, but the demand is not great. It is selling at retail for 90c., tea, plenty on sale at $2 and $2 25 by the cadey. Molasses is selling at $6 50 and $8. Tobacco is dull sale at wholesale. The best Glasgow brands, natural leaf, $2 25. Cheap brands are a drug on the market. Cigars, $4 to $10 per box. Nails, 30c., iron and steel, $1 10; glass is in demand, and good sizes, 8x10, 10x12 and 12x16, could be wholesaled at $40 per 50 feet. Coal oil, $10; rifle powder, $1; kip boots, $70 and $80 per case, and miners' boots, $12 and $16 per pair; oats, 30c. $1 50; soap, 30c. by the box, and cannot be wholesaled at that. Dried fruits cannot be found in this country. Canned fruits are slow sale, at $30 per case; soda, 60c.; matches, $3 per gross; salt is now selling at 90c. per pound; buckets, $20 per dozen; rope, $1; twine, $2; picks, with handles, $7 and $8 each; shovels, Ames' spring point, California, $8 each; sluice forks, $8; axe-handles, none by the dozen; shot, 50c.; lead, 50c.; whisky, plenty on sale and no demand—best Cincinnati brands, at retail, $8; lumber, $100 per m; wood, $10; hay, 10c. to 12c. per pound. The prices of goods at present fluctuate considerably, owing to the anticipation of so many goods from the States, by way of the Missouri River.

By way of advice, I would say to freighters and speculators in goods for this market, to beware of what they are about to do. Fortunes will be lost this Summer in freighting to this country, just as sure as the sun shines.

New came in yesterday that the Pend D'Orreille Indians were raising the mischief twenty-five miles below here. Bob Dempsey lost forty-five head of horses in one night by those Indians. They will be dealt with according to the miners' laws.

The mails are still a bore to this people. On the 6th of February the U. S. mail left Salt Lake for Bannack. Since then three of Oliver & Co.'s Express mails have arrived, and it is a mystery to us here what has become of it. The citizens of Bannack talk of sending out an ox wagon to meet the mail and help it along. A. J. Oliver & Co. are still charging $1 for letters and 75 cents for papers. Papers that are sent here from friends, and also to subscribers, are sold at this office at those prices. VALLEY TAN.

Removal.—The Provost-Marshal's office of the Third District has been removed to the large building Nos. 236 and 238 Washington-street; and the Supervisors' Bounty Committee will to-day shift their quarters to No. 13 Court-street.

Manhattan Life Insurance Company.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of this Company, held recently, the following important resolution was adopted after mature consideration: "There shall be added to each policy issued, or hereafter to be issued, the following words: 'This policy is incontestable after five years from its date, for or on account of errors, omissions, and mis-statements in the application, except as to age.'" No other American Company, we believe, offers this important advantage to insurers. All policies in force five years at once, become incontestable, under the operations of this rule, greatly enhancing their value to families and creditors. This liberal and just measure should secure to this company increased favor and patronage, as it exhibits the strong desire of the directors to throw every proper and safe advantage around the policies.—Home Journal.

"IN HOC VINCES."

ROMAINE'S CRIMEAN BITTERS is composed very largely of calisaya, with a number of other rare medical plants, chiefly products of the tropics of Asia and America. It is the only exhilarant tonic or beverage in the world followed by no stupefying reaction; hence, for convalescents, the debilitated and sedentary, it has no equal. It has the pleasant bitter taste of pure calisaya bark, with an undefinable exquisite flavor suited to the most refined palate. We refer to testimonials published daily in this column as to the scope of its medical powers.

FROM A CLERGYMAN.

Newark, June 18, 1863.

Messrs. W. Chilton & Co.:

In answer to your inquiries with regard to the Crimean Bitters you kindly gave me, I can right honestly say, that as an invigorating and exhilarating tonic for the sedentary, it is all you said of it. It is better far than the wine, generosum et lene, Horace, as a dyspeptic, wished for at sea-bathing quarters:

"Quod curas abigat, quod cum spe divite manet
In venas animumque meum, quod verba ministret."

Morton's Gold Pens are now sold at the same prices as before the commencement of the war; this is entirely owing to the Manufacturer's improvements in machinery, his present large Retail Business and Cash-in-Advance System; for, until he commenced advertising, his business was done on Credit and strictly with the Trade.

The Morton Gold Pens are the only ones sold at old prices, as the makers of all other gold pens charge the Premium on the Gold, Government Tax, &c.; but Morton has in no case changed his prices, wholesale or retail.

Of the great numbers sent by mail to all parts of the world during the past few years, not one in a thousand has failed to reach its destination in safety; showing that the Morton Gold Pen can be obtained by any one, in every part of the world, at the same price, postage only excepted

Reader, you can have an enduring, always ready, and reliable Gold Pen, exactly adapted to your hand and style of writing, which will do your writing vastly cheaper than Steel Pens; and at the present almost universal High-Pressure Price of everything, you can have a Morton Gold Pen cheaper, in proportion to the labor spent upon it and material used, than any other Gold Pen in the World. If you want one, see "The Pen is Mightier than the Sword," in another column.

THE CASE OF HUTCHINGS, THE "LIGHTNING CALCULATOR."

There was published in these columns a few days since the remarkable cure of Hutchings, the "Lightning Calculator," so well known to the public during the many years he exhibited his wonderful arithmetical powers at Barnum's Museum, by the celebrated Oculist and Aurist, Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Hutchings is represented to have been at the point of death, and but for the timely interference of the Doctor, would now be resting in his grave. This is a remarkable case, and worthy of the attention of persons similarly afflicted.

We think it is but just to Doctor Von Eisenberg to call public attention to this case. There are hundreds in the community suffering from catarrh, who, like the "Lightning Calculator," if not actually praying for death, are ready to accept of anything that promises to relieve them from their distresses. To such we would say, trifle not with inexperienced men, but consult, without unnecessary delay, Dr. Von Eisenberg, who, at least, has the honesty to assure his patients whether it is within his power to make them whole or not.

From the Tribune.

EARS TO THE DEAF.

Every man, and especially every woman, believes in his or her physician. There are philosophical minds which hold to an abstract faith in Allopathy, or Homeopathy, or Hydropathy, or some other form of scientific cure; but with the world at large the belief is not in the system, but in the doctor. Especially is this true as regards aurists and oculists. The patient who has recovered his sight or his hearing is sure that the blessing could have been restored to him by no other practitioner than that particular one by whom his eyes or ears were opened. Dr. Von Eisenberg is among our best-known aurists. He has not lent us ears as a brother practitioner has eyes, and in whose skill, therefore, we believe above all others. But we hear of him from those who esteem him not merely as a surgeon, but as a benefactor. A recent case has been related to us, for the truthfulness of which we can vouch, though we can name no names. The patient was a lady who had been deaf from infancy, as a consequence of some of the ailments to which children are liable. Latterly the disease had taken an acute form, and the patient was subject to intense suffering. The deafness was rapidly becoming complete, and the general health breaking down under the physical exhaustion attendant upon constant pain. Ordinary remedies and ordinary advice were useless, and Dr. Von Eisenberg was called in. We need not repeat his diagnosis, for that would be only a list of hard names to the general reader. But he detected at sight the seat of disease, first in one portion of the organism, then in another, and with manipulation as skillful as his insight was accurate, he removed the causes, and she who, from infancy, had heard with difficulty, and latterly hardly at all, was restored first to perfect hearing and then to perfect health. Dr. Von Eisenberg's advertisement reminds us of this case, which we thus briefly relate, though not at his solicitation. Let him that hath not ears, hear.

From the Christian Times.

SIGHT RESTORED.

CONCERNING EYES AND OCULISTS.

Of the five senses, that which we call seeing is the most important and most valued. In proportion as this sense fails us, we are reduced to helplessness. If entirely destitute of sight, how slow would be our progress in knowledge, and how limited our sphere of action and usefulness. Endowed with it, the universe becomes a new creation, clothed with beauty and diversified by that infinite variety which never fails to attract the mind and heart.

For several months past this has been a practical subject to us. An inflamed condition of the eyelids communicating itself to the pupil, rendered the discharge of daily duties not only painful, but dangerous. Attributing it to the effect of a cold, we endured it through the Spring, with the hope that with the return of warm weather it would entirely disappear. But in this we were doomed to disappointment. Summer returned, but not our wonted sight. What might have been the result, either of further neglect or of incompetent treatment, we cannot say.

Stating our case to a friend, he assured us that a similar one in his own family had recently been treated with entire success by Dr. Von Eisenberg, of this City. Satisfying ourselves by more particular inquiries that the doctor is no empiric, but a scientific oculist and aurist, we concluded to seek the benefits of his treatment, which we have now reason to acknowledge is very great. Though but a few weeks under his care, the appearance of our eyes has totally changed. The pupil is now full and clear, and the lids are entirely free from inflammation. The doctor says that the optic nerve has been weakened and the retina assumed a chronic inflammatory state, affecting more or less all the other tissues, and threatening, if neglected, to end in Amaurosis. Opthalmitis, is the term we believe, which oculists apply to eyes affected as were ours. Having obtained the much desired relief, we take great pleasure in acknowledging our indebtedness to the talent of Dr. Von Eisenberg, and of calling to it the attention of others who may be suffering from a similar or even worse condition of their eyes. It is said that Providence provides an antidote for every bane. It is certain that the eye is, in these times, subject to severer trials than formerly. Let us be thankful, then, that as we increase the tendencies which destroy the organ of vision, the progress of science keeps pace with these tendencies, if not in advance of them.

U. S. 10-40 BONDS.

These Bonds are issued under the Act of Congress of March 8, 1864, which provides that all Bonds issued under this Act shall be EXEMPT FROM TAXATION by or under any State or municipal authority. Subscriptions to these Bonds are received in United States notes or notes of National Banks. They are TO BE REDEEMED IN COIN, at the pleasure of the Government, at any period not less than ten nor more than forty years from their date, and until their redemption FIVE PER CENT. INTEREST WILL BE PAID IN COIN, on Bonds of not over one hundred dollars annually, and on all other Bonds semi-annually. The interest is payable on the first days of March and September in each year.

Registered Bonds are recorded on the Books of the United States Treasurer, and can be transferred only on the owner's order. Coupon Bonds are payable to bearer, and are more convenient for commercial uses.

Subscribers to this loan will have the option of having their Bonds draw interest from March 1, by paying the accrued interest in coin, (or in United States notes, or the notes of National Banks, adding fifty per cent. for premium,) or receive them drawing interest from the date of subscription and deposit.

As these Bonds are exempt from municipal or State taxation, their value is increased from one to three per cent. per annum, according to the rate of tax levies in various parts of the country.

At the present rate of premium on gold they pay over eight per cent. interest in currency, and are of equal convenience as a permanent or temporary investment.

It is believed that no securities offer so great inducements to lenders as the various descriptions of United States Bonds. In all other forms of indebtedness, the faith or ability of private parties, or stock companies, or separate communities only, is pledged for payment, while for the debts of the United States the whole property of the country is holden to secure the payment of both principal and interest in coin.

These Bonds may be subscribed for in sums from $50 up to any magnitude, on the same terms, and are thus made equally available to the smallest lender and the largest capitalist. They can be converted into money at any moment, and the holder will have the benefit of the interest.

The fact that all duties on imports are payable in specie furnishes a fund for like payment of interest on all Government Bonds largely in excess of the wants of the treasury for this purpose.

Instructions to the National Banks acting as loan agents were not issued from the United States Treasury until March 26, but in the first three weeks of April the subscriptions averaged more than TEN MILLIONS A WEEK.

Subscriptions will be received by the Treasurer of the United States at Washington, and the Assistant Treasurers at New-York, Boston and Philadelphia, and by the

NOTICE.—TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY EASTERN DIVISION, formerly called the LEAVENWORTH, PAWNEE AND WESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY, and all others whom it may concern: At a meeting of the Stockholders of the above named company, held at Leavenworth on the 4th and 5th days of April inst., the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, By the contract of four parts between this company, John C. Fremont, Ross, Steel & Co., and Edward Learned, approved by this meeting, large and valuable concessions of his interests as a stockholder have been made by said Fremont to promote the speedy construction of the road; and, whereas, it is probable that similar concessions may be agreed to by other stockholders; therefore,

Resolved, That the said Learned, as the financial agent of the company, be authorized and empowered to negotiate with any parties, who are the holders of or are interested in the stock of the company, for the transfer and delivery to him, as financial agent of such, and so much of said stock as such parties may be willing so to concede—to be by him used, disposed of or distributed, in like manner and for the same purposes, as is in said agreement provided, with reference to the shares agreed to be transferred to him by said Fremont, and in consideration therefor, the said financial agent is authorized and empowered to mark and indorse upon the certificates of shares which may be retained by such shareholders, severally, or to which they may be entitled upon making any such transfers, that such retained or so entitled shares are full paid and not subject to assessment; provided that such marking or indorsement shall not be made as aforesaid in any case so as to apply or be of effect, as to more shares in this company than shall be equal to one-fourth of the number of shares so transferred to the said financial agent in pursuance hereof by such shareholders respectively, and thereafter all such marked or indorsed certificates shall be deemed full paid for the number of shares embraced in such indorsements respectively, and the stockholders making the concessions and transfers hereinbefore provided, for shall forever after be held by the company free from any payments or liabilities for or on account of, or in any manner relating to the shares which they shall so severally transfer to said financial agent.

Resolved, further, In case it shall occur that from any cause any of the shares which may be transferred to the financial agent as aforesaid, or in pursuance of the aforesaid contract, shall at any time be found to belong wholly or in part to any other person or party, than the person or party who shall have so transferred the same, the said financial agent shall be and hereby is authorized, to transfer to such person or party, as shall so be found to be the rightful owner thereof, the shares so erroneously transferred to him.

Resolved, That the holders of certificates, obligations, or other memoranda issued in the name or on behalf of the company, which are claimed to entitle such holder to full paid or unassessable shares of the capital stock, be notified by the directors, by public advertisement, or in such other manner as the directors may determine, to present the same, together with any evidences of their right to require such shares to be made full paid or unassessable as aforesaid, to the Executive Committee of the company, in the City of New-York, within sixty days next following the issuing of such notices respectively, in order that all such certificates, obligations, or memoranda may be adjudicated, and proper formal certificates be issued in lieu thereof, in so far as such holders shall be deemed to be entitled thereto, by said Executive Committee. In case any holder shall refuse or omit to present his certificate, obligation, or memoranda, as aforesaid, and for the purposes and within the time aforesaid, or in case any of the evidences furnished as aforesaid shall be deemed by the Executive Committee to be insufficient to entitle the holder to such full paid shares, the officers of the company shall thereafter refuse to recognize or admit any liability of the company to make or issue full paid shares, on account of any such particular certificates, obligations or memoranda, or to treat the same in any manner as full paid shares, except upon the claims of bona fide holders thereof being established by due process of law, or upon competent legal evidence that such claims are obligations on the company, in the event of any irregularity or defective equity in the claim of any holder of any such certificate, obligation or memorandum, the Executive Committee are hereby authorized to adjust the claims of any such holder, in such manner as said committee shall deem equitable, and to cause to be issued in settlement thereof such number of full paid shares as said committee shall so deem to be just and equitable.

Pursuant to the foregoing resolutions, and to directions of the Executive Committee, all persons interested are requested to transmit to the undersigned, at his office, No. 48 Pine-st., in the City of New-York, such statements, propositions and papers as will render the proposed benefits available to them respectively, and secure the same within the time prescribed in the resolution: viz. sixty days from the date hereof.

MUSICAL.

CHICKERING & SONS

MANUFACTURERS OF GRAND, SQUARE, AND UPRIGHT PIANO-FORTES, No. 652 BROADWAY.—The superiority of these instruments has of late been amply demonstrated by the voluntary testimony of the foremost artists of the day, who claim for them excellencies of tone and workmanship hitherto unobtained by any other makers.

Mr. GOTTSCHALK'S constant use of the NEW SCALE CHICKERING GRAND PIANO-FORTES has severely tested their musical qualities, and resulted in establishing the justice of the very flattering estimation in which they are held.

BRADBURY'S

GOLD MEDAL
NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTES,

after thorough and repeated tests by GOTTSCHALK, MASON, MILLS, SANDERSON, FRADEL, MORGAN, HELLER, TIMM, PATTERSON, and many others of the most competent judges, are pronounced "superior in power, purity, richness and quality of tone and thoroughness of workmanship." See their letter in my last circular. Seven First Premiums, including two Gold Medals, were received by Mr. Bradbury within four weeks, at the State fairs; and at the American Institute of 1863, "for the BEST PIANO-FORTE, A GOLD MEDAL." Warerooms No. 427 Broome-st., one block east of Broadway.

WM. B BRADBURY.

STEINWAY & SONS'

GOLD MEDAL GRAND AND SQUARE PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others, is, that the firm is composed of five practical pianoforte makers, (father and four sons,) who invent all their own improvements, and under whose personal supervision every part of the instrument is manufactured. Warerooms, Nos. 71 and 73 East 14th-st., between Union-square and Irving-place, New-York.

MASON & HAMLIN'S CABINET ORGANS, FOR FAMILIES, CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS—Recognized by the musical profession as greatly superior to Harmoniums, Melodeons and all other small organs. [See our illustrated catalogue for explicit testimony to their superiority, from a majority of the most eminent organists in America.] Prices, $85 to $500 each.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.—The great reputation which our Cabinet Organs have obtained, and the extensive demand for them, have induced dealers to advertise, in some cases, quite different instruments as Cabinet Organs, and in others to represent to purchasers that Harmoniums and other reed organs are the same thing. This is not true. The excellences of our Cabinet Organs, which have given them their high reputation, are the result not merely of the superiority of their workmanship, but also, in large measure, of essential differences in construction, which, being patented, cannot be imitated by other makers. From these arise their better quality and volume of tone and unrivaled capacity for expression. Warerooms in New-York, No. 7 Mercer-st.

The above songs are from the pen of the popular composer, Mrs. Parkhurst, and are perfect gems. Price, 30 cents each. Mailed free. HORACE WATERS, Publisher, No. 481 Broadway, New-York.

THE BLOOD-RED WRITING ON THE ARM.
THE WRITING BY THE INVISIBLE HAND,

Fifth Heat.—Three to one was offered on the mare, many of the friends of the horse using their best endeavers to compromise their bets—among them, his driver. The mare had a shade the best of the start, but on making the turn they were locked together. At the quarter pole Cardinal broke, which gave the mare the lead, but at the three-quarters she also went off her feet, and the horse went up to her, and a fine, square trot then ensued up the home stretch. The mare, however, broke again inside the distance, and Cardinal came home an easy winner.

Trouble for Another Russian Count.

A youth who gave his name as FREDERICK RICHARD GURTE, and who has claimed to be a Russian Count, has for some time past afforded pleasure to, excited the envy and attracted the attention of certain circles up town. He is a fair, good-looking fellow of some twenty-three years. Has been giving suppers, parties, and masquerades, at his boarding-house and has been a regular diner at one of our most fashionable restaurants. His lady friends acknowledged his fascinations, and his male his title and his means. But, once upon a time, his employers, in William-st., discovered that sundry moneys due them had never reached them, and that other moneys so due followed the example. Officer SLOWEY, of the Metropolitan Detective Force, was called upon to elucidate. He devoted several days and his sagacity to the subject, and this resulted in Mr. SLOWEY calling on the Count on Friday morning last, at the unseemly time of daybreak, arousing him from his slumbers and conveying him to the marble building in Mulberry-street, where many masqueraders compulsorily find their way. The Count made a clean breast to SLOWEY of the matter. Some $800 or $900 had been appropriated since January. Among the friends who visited the youth was a doubtful notability, well known to the police and the public. The former had represented himself as a member of the firm in whose employ he was, and the surprise of the family, of whose house he was an inmate, on the dénouement, was unbounded, while to the many who had shared his board it was a source of grief.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

A SOLDIER ROBBED.—FREDERICK ECKE, a soldier recently returned from the war, took lodgings at No. 109 Greenwich-street, and while asleep in his room, on Saturday night, he was robbed by CHARLES BRINKMAN, who entered the apartment and rifled his pocket of the sum of $450. The theft was discovered soon afterward, and BRINKMAN being suspected, he was arrested by Officer FINKE, of the Twenty-seventh Precinct. On searching his person $350 of the stolen money was found. The accused confessed the theft, and Justice HOGAN committed him to the Tombs for trial.

A DISHONEST SERVANT.—ELIZA STEWART, formerly a domestic in the employ of the family of Mr. AARON P. WILSON, of Mott-Haven, Westchester County, was arrested by Detective SLOWEY, charged with having robbed her employer of a large amount of property. Some months since, Mrs. WILSON suddenly died, and Mr. W. determined to break up housekeeping. His effects were accordingly packed up and placed in the care of the accused, who subsequently removed them to a place where the owner could not find them. ELIZA, when arrested and questioned, admitted that she was guilty, and through the efforts of officer SLOWEY, $1,500 worth of the goods have been recovered.

YACHTING.—The several yacht clubs are making preparations for the coming season. It is rumored that a large number of exciting races are on the tapis.

NEW STEAMSHIP DOCKS.—The new steamship docks in Hoboken are completed, and the Hamburg and Bremen line of steamers will in future sail from the new landing.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

DEDICATION OF A NEW CHURCH.—The new and splendid edifice recently erected in Elm-place, near Fulton-avenue, was dedicated to Divine worship yesterday. It is known as the Elm-place Congregational Church, under the pastoral charge of Rev. WM. A. BARTLETT. The congregation have for some years past occupied the building known as the Tabernacle, on Fulton-avenue. The services in the morning opened with a voluntary on the organ, and the reading of a portion of the Scriptures. After singing the 551st hymn, the Pastor announced that to-day the pews were free, but that to-morrow (Monday) and Tuesday evenings the choice seats would be rented to the highest bidder. A collection was then taken up for furnishing the church, when the dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. R. D. HITCHCOCK, who took for his text the 22d and 1st clause of the 23d verses, 1st chapter of the Ephesians:—"And hath put all things under his feet and gave Him to be the Head over all things to the Church, which is His body," in which he treated of the church as the revelations of God and as the organ and instrument of His will.

The services of dedication were then proceeded with, when, after a prayer by Rev. Dr. WATERBURY, the hymn, commencing,

> "God of the Universe, to Thee
> This sacred fane we rear,
> And now, with songs and bended knee,
> Invoke Thy presence here," was sung by the choir, after which the congregation was dismissed with a benediction. In the afternoon the sermon was preached by the pastor, and in the evening by Rev. Dr. R. S. STORRS, Jr.

The new building is in the Gothic style of architecture, the front of Belleville brown stone, and the sides and rear of brick, being 75 feet front by 127 feet deep. Over the centre doorway is a large rose window, ten feet in diameter, filled with brilliant colors. On each side are smaller windows of stained glass. The interior arrangements are characterized more by an air of comfort than gaudy ornamentation. There is a gallery over the main entrance, opposite the pulpit, but none on the sides, and there being no posts or pillars there is an unobstructed view from any point of the interior. The pulpit is of richly carved black walnut, over which is situated a large and powerful organ, built by Mr. REUBEN MIDMER, of this city. The arrangements for lighting and ventilation are of the most modern and approved character, nothing in fact having been left undone to make it, in all respects, one of the finest churches in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN CITY MORTALITY.—The total number of deaths in this city last week, was 118, of which 25 were men, 26 women, 38 boys, and 29 girls. MOREHOUSE, of the Third District; ABRAHAM H. DALEY, of the Fourth District, and ANTHONY WALTER, of the Fifth District. Those holding over are Justices CHAUNCY A. PERRY, (Police,) WILLIAM M. BOZRUM and JOHN Q. ADAMS.

ROBBERY.—The house of Mr. WM. FURZE, No. 88 Hudson-avenue, was feloniously entered by means of false keys, on Saturday afternoon, and robbed of two silk dresses, worth $40, breastpins, sleeve buttons, &c., in all valued at $63, with which the thief escaped undetected.

Williamsburgh.

DESCENT ON GAMESTERS.—On Sunday morning, about 1 o'clock, Capt. WOGLOM and Sergeant MADDOX, with a squad of police, made a descent upon "The Arbor," in Fourth-street, Brooklyn, E. D., where a party of gamesters, fourteen in number, were arrested, and with the checks, "lay-out," cards and check boxes of a faro bank, brought to the Station-house. The men all gave ficticious names, but some of them are well known to the police. They will be brought before Judge DAILEY this morning. There are other similar institutions which need a visitation from Capt. WOGLOM and his men.

A NEW JUDGE.—The judicial term of the Justices of Brooklyn, E. D., closed on Saturday. Judge COLAHAN vacated the bench of the Fourth District Court, the duties of which will this morning devolve on ABRAM H. DAILEY, Esq. In the Fifth District, ANTHONY WALTER, Esq., who was reëlected last Fall, holds over. The term is for four years; salary, $1,800. WM. A. BROWN, Clerk of the Fourth, and WM. H. DUNHAM, of the Fifth District hold over. They receive $850 each per annum.

The corner loafer nuisance becoming almost intolerable on Grand-street, Brooklyn, E. D., ten of the stationary specimens were arrested on Saturday evening.

INJURED.—On Saturday afternoon, about 2 o'clock, a workman in WALL's rope-walk, Brooklyn, E. D., had his right hand so badly crushed by machinery that amputation was necessary. The unfortunate man resides at No. 160 McKibben-street; his name is CONRAD WRIGHT.

Surviving Assignee Cannot Sue the Representatives of a Deceased Co-Assignee for Trust Fund Received by him in his Lifetime.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Justice Marvin.

Bartlett Assignee, &c., vs. Hatch et al, Executors, &c.—One Burke made an assignment for benefit of creditors in 1854, to Abner Bartlett and Robert Hogan. After death of Hogan, the plaintiff, as surviving assignee, brings this action, to recover monies received by his co-assignee in his lifetime. The defendants demurred to the complaint that the plaintiff was not the proper party to bring the suit. The court held that the plaintiff could not maintain the action, but that the cestui que trusts could do so, and were the proper plaintiffs, and that they could join the plaintiff as defendant in the suit, with the representatives of Hogan, and it would then appear whether Bartlett, as well as Hogan, was liable for the trust fund.

There must be judgement for the defendants on the demurrer, with leave to the plaintiff to amend his complaint if so advised on payment.

John B. Fogerty and William Fullerton for plaintiffs.

Roswell D. Hatch and E. P. Cowles for defendants

When Usury is Set Up in an Action on a Note the Proofs Must be Positive.

SUPREME COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Justice Miller.

Oliver S. Leland et al. vs. William Marsh et al.—This was an action against the maker and indorser of a promissory note made in July, 1861, and transferred to the plaintiff for value. Plaintiffs set up usury, and that it was an accommodation note. The plaintiffs showed that only the lawful rate of interest had been taken, but alleged that defendants owed one of the plaintiffs $10, which had been included in the note, and accounted for the alleged usurious interest.

Counsel for the plaintiffs contended that the statute in regard to usury was necessarily penal, and any doubts as to the taking of unlawful interest should be construed in favor of the plaintiffs.

The jury found a verdict in favor of plaintiffs for the full amount, $315, and interest, and the court granted an allowance to plaintiffs' counsel.

Henry H. Morange for plaintiffs; Mr. Hadley for the defendants.

SKINS—Large sales of Mexican goat skins have been effected at full prices. The demand from manufacturers is brisk, but the light supply and extreme views of holders of the more common descriptions retard transactions in them. Sales of 23 bales Tampico, 365 bales Vera Cruz, and 31 bales Payta on private terms. The market for Deer continues languid, and sales are effected only in small lots at reduced rates. Quotations remain nominal, with a large stock on hand.

WHISKY—Has been in more demand, and sales have been reported, since our last, of 3,400 bbls., part at $1 14@$1 16, ꝑ gallon, now held higher.

WOOL—Has been unusually active, speculators having been buying freely, in view of the tariff changes, and prices have advanced materially, Domestic being now quoted up 2c.@3c. ꝑ ℔, and Foreign even higher. The week's sales include 900,000 ℔s. Domestic Fleece at from 73c.@85c.; 275,000 ℔s. Domestic Pulled at 60c.@80c.; 150,000 ℔s. California at 30c.@56c.; 25,000 ℔s. Canada at 78c.@82½c.; 25,000 ℔s. In Boston, according to the Commercial Bulletin, sales have been made of 750,000 ℔s. Domestic at a range of 70c.@87½c. for Fleece, 78c.@90c. for Super and Extra Pulled. At the close, however, there are no lots of strictly choice Saxony Fleece offering at less than 90c. Of California, sales of 18,000 ℔s. Fall clip at 40c. Of Canada, small lots of pulled at 70c.@73c., and 5,000 ℔s. combing at 80c. Of Foreign, sales 800 bales all descriptions, including 300 do. Cape at 45c.@47c., and 150 do. Mestiza at 38c.@42c. The market continues very firm with a healthy consumptive demand, stimulated by an increased activity in goods, the prospect that foreign are to be largely replaced by domestic manufactures, and that under the pending revised tariff a more general reliance must be placed upon staple of native growth. Indeed, these influences have so far predominated, that notwithstanding the panic in Stocks, the fluctuations in Gold, and a somewhat stringent money market, there has been no let up in the inquiry for Wool, and prices have gained some 3c.@5c. ꝑ ℔. during the past week.... In Philadelphia, sales have been made of 250,000 ℔s. Domestic Fleece, at 75c.@85c. ꝑ ℔.

FREIGHTS—The market is quiet to-day, with 581 vessels in port. RECENT TESTIMONIALS.

CATARRH CURED.

FROM REV. FRED. S. JEWELL,

PROFESSOR OF THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL, ALBANY, N. Y.

This may certify that I have been, since 1844, subject to violent periodical attacks of catarrh, marked by a highly inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the cavities of the head, producing a most distressing species of headache, for days at a time, wholly incapacitating me from business, and, during the paroxysms, confining me to the bed. In some instances the inflammation has extended to the teeth, occasioning toothache; to the throat, producing hoarseness and partial loss of voice; and twice it has so affected the left eye as to confine me for a month or more to a darkened room. These attacks have been accompanied by strong febrile symptoms; by stoppages of the head, and in the first stages by watery discharges from the nose, and subsequently becoming acrid and yellow, and, toward the close of the attack, becoming bloody and purulent. I have tried medicines of almost every kind; external applications to the head, such as camphor, ginger, hot vinegar, snuffs of some half dozen kinds, and other catarrhal preparations, together with internal remedies, such as alteratives, cathartics and emetics. These have produced no change in the occurrence or character of the disease, and, in most cases with little or no temporary relief. I had come, at length, to believe the disease to be practically beyond either cure or material alleviation.

Under these circumstances, I was led, some five months ago, to make a trial of Dr. Lighthill's treatment. His method at once approved itself to my judgment as simple, philosophical, and likely to be effective. Notwithstanding the disadvantages under which he labored in dealing with a disease of such long standing, aggravated by nervous debility and dyspepsia, and constantly induced by the accidents of my professional labor, I found the treatment reaching the disease as it had never been reached before, and producing such a modification and alleviation of its character as I had supposed impossible. I chronicle the result thus:

Although I have been situated several times so that I should formerly have believed a severe attack of my catarrh inevitable, I have escaped thus far; the symptoms of threatened attack have been very light, and have yielded to the remedies employed by Dr. Lighthill, without the need of recourse to the old hot fermentations, or emetics, and the discharges from the head have resumed the original and natural condition. That I have been able to obtain so material a relief is to me a cause of gratitude. In that alone I am repaid for whatever the treatment may have cost me.

I make this statement unsolicited, as a means of acknowledging my obligations to Dr. Lighthill's method of treating catarrh, and with a view to aid any who may have suffered from that disease in forming a just opinion of its merits, and its probable utility in their own case.

FREDERICK S. JEWELL.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 14, 1864.

REMARKABLE CURE OF DEAFNESS.

From Rev. Joseph M. Clarke, Rector of St. James' Church.

SYRACUSE, Feb. 20, 1864.

I have been deaf in one ear ever since I was in College, some twenty years ago. By the skill of Dr. Lighthill, its hearing was entirely restored, so that now I hear alike with both ears, and I find that I can use my voice with much more ease and comfort than before.

JOSEPH M. CLARKE.

From the Rev. John Nott, D. D., Professor in Union College, Schenectady.

Since I first publicly acknowledged the great benefits which I received from the skillful treatment of Dr. Lighthill, in regard to my hearing, letters of inquiry have incessantly poured upon me from all parts of the country, from parties desiring to learn the particulars of my case, and I am indeed surprised at the number of individuals who are affected similar to the manner in which I have been, and, therefore, feel it more and more a sacred duty which I owe to these sufferers, to direct them to a proper and reliable source to obtain the benefit they so much covet, and which so many afflicted ones have hitherto sought in vain, just as I had done previous to applying to Dr. Lighthill.

I had from infancy one very deaf ear, which always discharged more or less offensive matter, and was the source of the greatest annoyance and discomfort to me. Last year the other ear also became diseased, and both ears discharged a yellow matter, very profuse and highly offensive. My hearing became very much impaired, and the discharge produced the greatest debility of body and depression of spirits. I applied to my family physician and other practitioners, without deriving any benefit, and almost despaired of being restored to health, when, providentially, I applied to Dr. Lighthill. Under his treatment my ears began to improve at once, and continued to do so until, in a comparatively short time, both ears were healed, the discharge removed, and my hearing restored. At first I feared the cure would not be permanent, or that the stoppage of a discharge of so long standing might prove detrimental to my general health—a fear which I find a great many entertain in regard to the removal of discharge from the ear. My experience, however, has proved conclusively that my apprehensions were entirely groundless in both respects, for both ears are as well, and my hearing is as good at present, as the day I left off treatment, and the stoppage of discharge, instead of proving detrimental to my health, has given the highest elasticity and vigor to my body, and a flow of spirits not experienced for a long time previous.

I wish that the above might serve as a general answer to the interested, but should one or the other desire to apply to me personally, or by letter, I will cheerfully satisfy reasonable demands upon my time.

I avail myself of this opportunity of again publicly expressing my deeply-felt gratitude to Dr. Lighthill, whom I esteem as a gentleman and a man of science, in whom the highest confidence may be placed. JOHN NOTT.

References to parties of the highest respectability residing in the City, who have been cured of Deafness, Catarrh, &c., may be had on application.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH.

No. 23 FORSYTH-ST., NEW-YORK, Oct. 1, 1863.

Dr. Von Eisenberg:

DEAR SIR: Without recapitulating the numerous benefits I have received through your wonderful cure of the deafness I have labored under many years, the blessings I enjoy will convince the most skeptical.

I have tried many aurists, in Europe and America, without success. I am still deaf as a post.

Three years ago I entered your office, underwent one operation, hoping, yet doubting, I should receive any relief, but was agreeably disappointed in finding the genius of your profession.

The innate skill you possess cured my deafness in one almost painless operation.

The joy I experienced was indescribable; 'twas a new life to me.

My hearing is perfect to this day.

I strongly advise all who are suffering under a difficulty of hearing, or total deafness, to consult you immediately, as I also personally recommend all who apply to me. The [illegible] tience, yet, remembering my own long, weary affliction causes me to pity them.

This is not written to advertise your well-known, unrivaled reputation—that would be puerile; but as a measure of precaution, to induce all to call on you at once, without troubling me; yet I do not refuse to see any one who comes to me. This is the only way I can show my gratitude.

I also call the attention of those who are suffering from Catarrh, which disease I have labored under one year or more.

I experienced difficulty in breathing, langour, heaviness over the eyes, a sense of tightness on the brain, and copious expectorations of a hard and viscid nature. Accompanying this is the "polypus," quite filling the right nostril. On the 26th ult. you operated on both, killing the polypus, which is gradually passing away, and giving me great relief from the Catarrh. One more operation will effectually cure.

This testimonial brings with it my unalloyed and grateful thanks, with but a poor delineation of your wondrous skill as an Aurist.

I am, Sir, yours very gratefully,
EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.

It has been from time immemorial the object of philanthropists to find some remedy for the ills of life, and scientific skill has for ages explored every avenue in order to discover the hidden secret. It has been, however, reserved for modern science to bring before the world the great destroyer of disease, and in HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS are concentrated all those virtues which tend to promote healthy and vigorous life. Unlike the generality of bitters, they are not an alcoholic mixture, but a pure tonic, composed entirely of vegetable substances. They are a positive cure for

The reputation of this preparation is not of a day, nor a month, nor a year, nor is it confined within a limited space, nor is it but known and appreciated by those who move in the circle of fashion and refinement. It is, on the contrary, world wide, and the triumphs of this article have blessed alike the rich and the poor, while like the snow that falls gently on the earth, so this friend of mankind causes its blessing to descend upon the suffering and afflicted. Its virtues are known in every quarter of the inhabitable globe, and the wonderful cures which it is daily performing have won for it the highest post in the temple of science. With such recommendations, backed by incontestible and undoubted testimonials from those who have experienced its curative properties, giving to the public no assertion but what has passed through the crucible of truth, and supported by an array of splendid and hitherto unknown triumphs, what wonder is it that thousands rush to it for relief in the hour of danger.

NEW-YORK TESTIMONY.

From John B. Wickersham, Esq., firm of Wickersham & Hutchison, the celebrated manufacturers of fancy iron works, No. 259 Canal-st.:

* * * * *

I am the recipient from you of one of the greatest favors that can be conferred upon man, viz: That of health. For many years have I suffered from one of the most annoying and debilitating complaints that the human family can be afflicted with, Chronic Diarrhœa.

During the long time I was suffering from this disease I was attended by regular physicians, giving me but temporary relief. The cause seemed to remain until I was induced to try Hoofland's German Bitters. After the use of a few bottles of that valuable medicine, the complaint appeared to be completely eradicated.

I often inwardly thank you for such a valuable specific, and, whenever I have an opportunity, cheerfully recommend it, with full confidence in its reliability.

Truly, yours, JOHN B. WICKERSHAM.

NEW-YORK, Feb. 2, 1864.

From Julius Lee, Esq., firm of Lee & Walker, the most extensive Music Publishers in the United States, No. 722 Chesnut-st., Philadelphia:

FEBRUARY 8, 1864.

MESSRS. JONES & EVANS—GENTLEMEN: My mother-in-law has been so greatly benefited by your Hoofland's German Bitters that I concluded to try it myself. I find it to be an invaluable tonic, and unhesitatingly recommend it to all who are suffering from dyspepsia. I have had that disease in its most obstinate form—flatulence—for many years, and your Bitters has given me ease when everything else has failed. Yours truly, JULIUS LEE.

From that well known citizen,

HON. JACOB BROOM:

HON. JACOB BROOM:

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7, 1863.

GENTLEMEN: In reply to your inquiry as to the effect produced by the use of "Hoofland's German Bitters" in my family, I have no hesitation whatever in saying that it has been highly beneficial. In one instance, a case of dyspepsia, of about thirteen years' standing, and which had become very distressing, the use of one bottle gave decided relief, the second effecting a cure, and the third, it seems, has confirmed the cure, for there have been no symptoms of its return for the last six years. In my individual use of it I find it to be an unequaled tonic, and sincerely recommend its use to the sufferers.

Truly yours, JACOB BROOM, No. 1,707 Spruce-st.

The following well-known reverend gentlemen have acknowledged in writing the great benefits they have received from the use of these Bitters. Such testimony must certainly convince the most sceptical:
